

Britain's Defence Heads Summoned

Chamberlain Consults Ministers as Cabinet Called for Tomorrow Military Moves

LONDON (AP)—Britain's four defence ministers were called suddenly into conference today with Prime Minister Chamberlain, who earlier had summoned a full-dress cabinet meeting for tomorrow to consider the central European crisis.

As the heads of the fighting services assembled at 10 Downing Street it was considered virtually certain they had been called to confer on possible military measures.

Sir Kingsley Wood, Air Minister; Leslie Hore-Belisha, War Secretary; Alfred Duff Cooper, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Coordination of Defence, took part in the meeting. They were accompanied by their chiefs of staff.

Awaiting them at the Prime Minister's office were Mr. Chamberlain and his "inner cabinet"—Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir Samuel Hoare, Home Secretary.

AIR MINISTER RUSHES
 The Air Minister had hurried back to London from Coventry, where he had been inspecting "shadow" airplane factories.

Viscount Gort, chief of the Imperial General Staff, and Admiral Sir Roger Backhouse, First Sea Lord and chief of the naval staff, were among the conferees.

A summons for the cabinet to meet at 11 a.m. tomorrow was issued earlier by Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. Chamberlain decided to summon the cabinet for its second meeting this week after he and key ministers had studied the text of the Reichsfuehrer's speech in which a demand was expressed for the right of "self-determination" for the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia. The cabinet also met yesterday, a few hours before Hitler spoke.

The cabinet ministers at their meeting tomorrow are expected to consider what further avenues are left open for negotiation in the Czech minority dispute.

HOLIDAY FOR CITIZENS' DAY

City Hall staffs will join employees of stores tomorrow for Citizens' Day at the fair.

The City Hall will close at noon it was announced today and the hope was expressed that offices of surrounding municipalities will close likewise, as well as wholesale stores and offices which are not covered by the Weekly Half Holiday Act.

U.S. Has Great New Anti-tank Guns

WASHINGTON (AP)—General Malin Craig, United States army chief of staff, said today the army has developed new anti-tank guns which would wipe out an enemy tank offensive. Gen. Craig said he believed the gun, a 37-millimetre mobile unit, was unequalled in the world.

Gen. Craig authorized the army and navy register to announce experiments have reached the point where production will be started soon. Experiments are continuing, he added, with a smaller weapon powerful enough to pierce tank armor and better for use at close quarters.

Stronger Stand By Great Britain

Attitude on Central Europe Stiffer After Hitler's Speech Studied

By J. F. SANDERSON
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — A stiffening attitude on the part of the British government was seen tonight, 24 hours after Chancellor Hitler's speech on the Czech crisis and after its line-by-line examination in Whitehall and Downing Street. After the "big four" of the Chamberlain government and Foreign Office experts had given the speech careful consideration, these reactions appeared.

1. It would be morally unjustifiable to break off negotiations with Prague for a peaceful solution of the Czech-Sudeten problems.

2. It would be impossible for Germany to suppose that Great Britain could stand aside if the integrity of France were menaced.

3. Events in Czechoslovakia today, including a series of riots and killings, added extreme gravity to the already critical situation.

It is realized here that Hitler's speech banded no doors—perhaps the door to an amicable settlement was left ajar since it would be possible for negotiations under Viscount Runciman to continue.

NO SOLUTION

On the other hand, the speech did nothing to provide solutions, nor did it contain concrete specific suggestions on how a settlement may be reached. Therefore, from that angle, the speech did little to remove the menace facing Europe and the world.

Apart from references in the speech to the Sudetens and apart from the direct results of those references, another angle was noticeable. That was the apparent failure to appreciate or make proper allowances for the attitude of Great Britain.

CHAMBERLAIN ASKS OPPOSITION'S AID

British Premier Talks With Leaders Attlee and Sinclair on Europe's Crisis

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today called Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee and Sir Archibald Sinclair to 10 Downing Street and informed the two opposition leaders of all the facts behind the European situation. The move was to enlist their support in national solidarity.

Violent incidents occurring in the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia were regarded here as sparks which might easily lead to a conflagration.

Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, was present at the meeting between Mr. Chamberlain and the opposition leaders.

Sign Expulsion For Italian Jews

ROME (AP)—A decree signed by King Vittorio Emanuele and Premier Benito Mussolini placed in effect today the cabinet decision of Sept. 1 to expel foreign Jews who have settled in Italy since January 1, 1919.

The law gives Jews six months to leave the country, thus establishing March 12, 1939, as the deadline for compliance.

Border Protest By Japan to Russia

TOKIO (AP)—Japan protested Tuesday to Constantin Smetanin, Soviet charge d'affaires, against what were termed four cases of border violation.

The protest said Soviet Russians had crossed the boundary between Russian and Japanese portions of Sakhalin Island August 12, 23 and 24 "with deliberate intent to aggravate Russo-Japanese relations and invite dispute."

NAZIS STAND ALOOF

BERLIN (AP)—The German propaganda ministry tonight said the Sudeten German ultimatum "is a matter concerning Sudeten Germans alone."

KEY FIGURE IN EUROPE—As disorders swept the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia today, President Eduard Benes (above) and Premier Milan Hodza kept in the closest touch with police and military leaders in all parts of the republic. This picture was taken when M. Benes broadcast an appeal to his people to remain calm. It was radiophotocast across the Atlantic.

AT FOREIGN OFFICE—When Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, former Foreign Minister in Chamberlain's cabinet, called at the Foreign Office in London, and presumably had a talk on the disturbed conditions in Europe, the incident caused much discussion. There was speculation as to whether he would re-enter government councils. The picture above was radiophotocast across the Atlantic.

Cruise is Life's Dream

Capt. and Mrs. A. J. Davidge and Youthful Crew Making Lorna D. Shipshape Here Today Before Leaving for South Seas

"You might call it a poor man's holiday but its going to be the trip of our lives," said Capt. A. J. Davidge as he worked with grimy hands aboard the 26-ton auxiliary schooner Lorna D in which he and a crew of five will leave Victoria this week for the South Seas.

"When we get to Tahiti we shall be so enamored of the place that we shall have to pay the natives to drive us out," he said. The Lorna D, 12-years-old and named after the captain's wife, slipped into port yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and Sidney and dropped anchor off the Armstrong Bros. plant.

The trim auxiliary schooner will remain in the harbor for a few days shipping supplies and putting on the finishing touches before heading for the romantic south.

The crew of the Lorna D numbers six all told. They are: Capt. and Mrs. Davidge, and their 22-year-old son, Dick, of Victoria and Maple Bay; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Hartzell and the latter's brother Thomas, of Seattle. They expect to be away from Victoria for at least 18 months but it will probably be much longer.

CITY LIKE HOME

"Victoria is like home to us," said Capt. Davidge, wiping the oily grime from his sun-tanned arms as he quit tinkering with the auxiliary engine this morning. "My wife and I first came to Victoria in 1910 and we have been commuting between here and Maple Bay ever since."

The Lorna D is registered at Victoria. "This trip is our life's dream," he said. "It isn't a rich man's

France to Keep Wartime Basis

Cabinet Decides Military Measures Cannot Be Eased in Crisis

PARIS (AP)—The French government decided today that in view of threats contained in Adolf Hitler's Nuremberg speech it was necessary to keep France's military machine keyed at wartime pitch.

After analyzing the speech in a two-and-a-half hour meeting with President Albert Lebrun, the cabinet decided unanimously there was no possibility now of easing the military measures which have sent hundreds of thousands of additional troops into the Maginot zone, facing Germany, in the past few days. This state of "keen vigilance" must be maintained "until after the situation is clarified," a minister said after leaving the meeting.

The official journal published orders shifting Rear Admiral Jean Abrial, adjutant to the chief of the general staff of the navy, to command of the Mediterranean fleet.

Another order declared the strategic stretch of border highway near Metz of "urgent public utility" and authorized appropriation of lands and buildings necessary to make it suitable for large troop movements.

BAN ON EXPORTS

A ban on the exportation of iron, cotton and many other products valuable for national defence was invoked suddenly as in emergency measure.

All permits for the exportation of the banned products were cancelled promptly. Customs posts were ordered to hold up such shipments. The list includes iron, iron and steel scrap, cotton, cotton by-products, wool, hides, silk in cocoons, linen, hemp, jute and sisal.

Border preparations were accelerated. Troop movements continued in the first defence line. Reserve units continued arriving.

At Nancy, only 20 minutes' flight from the nearest German airdrome, machine guns were placed on high structures. Squadrons of pursuit and fighting planes were stationed at various frontier points to be ready for any attacking fleet.

PARIS DEFENCES

During the night rubber-tired trucks loaded with men and military equipment rolled quietly along the great boulevards of Paris. The government was reported strengthening its capital's anti-aircraft defences.

Chamberlain Rejects Labor's Request Parliament Meet on Europe's Crisis

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, it was announced today, has turned down the request of the Labor Party that Parliament be summoned before its regular date for convening to consider international affairs.

Mr. Chamberlain, in a letter to Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, stated: "We appreciate the reasons which have led you to make this request (summon Parliament), but our conclusion is that it would not be opportune to call Parliament together at this time."

You may, however, rest assured that I will not fail to bear the request in mind should circumstances arise which in the judgment of my colleagues and myself might render it desirable to recall Parliament before the due date (November 1)."

Drivers' Tests Soon

VANCOUVER (CP)—Purchase of equipment for an automobile drivers' testing station in the motor vehicle safety inspection building, now under construction here, has been approved by the Vancouver city council and W. A. Sheppard, purchasing agent, instructed to place the orders with two Vancouver firms. Cost of the equipment will total $9,198.

Break Frontier Bars

Sudetens Cow Czech Border Guards at Varnsdorf and 500 March Into Germany

PRAGUE (CP-Havas)—Six thousand Sudeten Germans today crowded Czechoslovak border guards and tore down the frontier barriers at Varnsdorf, in extreme northern Czechoslovakia. Five hundred of their number then crossed into Germany, where the barriers were already down in anticipation of their entry.

Reuters stated the document said all Sudeten Germans were armed and should have no trouble in carrying out the designated orders.

The secret instructions added, the report said, that if isolated action failed to force a plebiscite, collective demonstrations and more important attacks on government authority would be organized in all Sudeten regions.

Reich Machine Marked With Swastika Flies Away From Swiss City When Sharply Warned by Guards

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—A German plane marked plainly with swastikas flew over this Swiss city near the German and French borders for 10 minutes this afternoon until warned away by angry Swiss guards.

Swiss authorities said an "immediate protest" would be made to Berlin in view of the fact the Reich prohibited planes over its territory "but violated the rules of other countries."

The plane first appeared at 1:50 p.m. after having been seen

France Bans Assemblies

Street Meetings and Outdoor Demonstrations Connected With Tense International Situation Are Banned

PARIS (CP-Havas)—The French government decided today to bar all outdoor street meetings and demonstrations staged to consider the international situation.

A meeting organized for tomorrow by extreme leftist groups immediately fell under the ban.

A conference of military and police heads was held at the war ministry late today to map organization of measures to protect civilians from possible air attack.

Interior Minister Albert Sarraut attended with Achille Villet Desmarest, prefect of the Seine department, Roger Langeron, prefect of police, and General Decamp, chief of Premier Daladier's military cabinet.

NO EXCHANGE LIMITS

PARIS (AP)—After today's cabinet meeting Finance Minister Paul Marchandeau said the ministers had discussed possible repercussions of the international situation in the financial and monetary field. The government, he said, was determined to impose no restrictions on the freedom of financial or exchange operations.

Lloyds of London Call Meeting to Discuss Cessation of Quoting Rates and Stocks Drop at New York

LONDON (AP)—The board of Lloyds, the underwriters, was summoned today to meet Thursday to discuss a proposal to cease quoting war risks altogether. Already such insurance is limited largely to the marine field.

STOCKS DOWN

NEW YORK (AP)—New York stock market staggered late today

under news that Czechoslovak tension was swiftly increasing.

Under a wave of selling, prices of leading issues dropped $1 to $5 a share and more.

The heavy liquidation started when Wall Street financial news tickers carried dispatches telling of the Sudeten leaders' ultimatum to the Czechoslovak government, calling for revocation of measures instituted to repress violence.

MORE INCIDENTS

LONDON—It is believed in many quarters here Hitler's ultimate objective may be to create enough incidents in Czechoslovakia to convince the world he must intervene with troops to maintain order. In that eventuality he could tell the world he is not fighting the Czech government, but protecting Sudetens, and that the Czech alliances with France and Russia should not be operative.

Five Cabinet Members Leaving

Four members of the British Columbia cabinet will accompany Premier T. D. Pattullo to Ottawa next week to discuss a wide range of matters between the federal and provincial governments.

The Premier will leave here next Wednesday. Going with him will be Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary; Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, and Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor.

The Alaska Highway project, immigration and finances are expected to be major subjects for negotiation by the cabinet delegation. The ministers will also take up various matters of detail affecting their departments.

But Martial Law To End If Germans Secure Order

EIGHT ARE KILLED

GENEVA (AP)—The official Czechoslovak delegation to the League of Nations announced tonight that information had been received from Prague that the government had rejected a six-hour Sudeten German ultimatum and sent additional troops into the Sudeten areas.

TASK FOR SUDETENS

PARIS (AP)—Stephen Osusky, Czechoslovak minister to France, announced tonight that the Prague government had proposed to the Sudeten Germans that they publish a proclamation assuring internal order, after which the government would revoke martial law in the Sudeten regions.

PARADE CANCELED

PRAGUE (AP)—The Czechoslovak government tonight deliberated on an ultimatum of the Sudeten German Party demanding revocation within six hours of martial law and emergency police measure the government had imposed in the Sudeten regions near the German border, where eight persons had been killed in clashes.

There was no official indication of conclusions reached, but informed persons predicted the government would not yield to the Sudeten demands.

(Havas news agency quoted authoritative Czechoslovak sources as stating that at 9:45 p.m. key Czechoslovak ministers still were studying the Sudeten ultimatum and had not yet formulated the official reply. A short time earlier it had been reported a reply had been sent to the minority but that its terms would not be made public.)

The ultimatum was to expire at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday (4:30 p.m. today, P.S.T.).

The situation in Prague became so tense authorities called off a torchlight procession scheduled to honor Thomas G. Masaryk, first President of Czechoslovakia, who died a year ago.

Thousands of people milled in the streets and police patrols were strengthened.

MOST DANGEROUS PHASE

The Sudeten ultimatum was considered to have opened the most dangerous phase thus far of the bitter conflict between Prague and the Sudetens.

(The ultimatum was presented at 7:30 p.m., 10:30 a.m. P.S.T.).

Martial law was declared by the Czechoslovakian government to eight Sudeten areas this morning after a wild night, which saw eight killed in disturbances following Adolf Hitler's speech at Nuremberg yesterday.

At Eger, centre of one of the eight areas and within 10 miles of the German border, tanks from a nearby garrison rolled through the streets.

The Sudetens in Eger hoisted an enormous swastika, an emblem forbidden in Czechoslovakia, and there and in other border towns acclaimed yesterday as "The Sudetens' day of joy."

DENY RESPONSIBILITY

The Sudeten party in a memorandum to the government stated that martial law continued it could not "be responsible for developments."

At Sudeten Party headquarters in Prague leaders declared tonight all negotiations with the government had been broken off.

"There has been no formal notice that discussions have ceased, but there can be no conversations in this atmosphere," said Oscar Ullrich, the party's propaganda chief.

"Our committee does not intend to approach the government again."

"It is impossible to talk reasonably with people who argue with bullets."

Communique By German
Party Gives Demands
on Czech Government

PRAGUE (AP)—The following is the text of a communique issued by the Sudeten German Party tonight, including the terms of the ultimatum presented to the Czechoslovakian government:

"At a meeting held today in Eger the situation was examined by the political committee and negotiating delegates of the Sudeten German Party in respect to incidents yesterday and today and measures taken by the government."

"The gendarmerie and military detachments in the German districts have been increased and standstill (martial law) has been applied to extensive German districts by radio."

"Leaders of the Sudeten Germans have been killed or wounded by organizations of the state, or Czech frontiersmen."

"In this situation the leaders of the Sudeten German Party feel themselves unable to negotiate freely and without restriction over the rights and fate of Sudeten Germanism with the government unless the government adopts the following measures:

"The proclamation of standstill (martial law) shall be withdrawn immediately."

"Gendarmerie and all other organizations of special government services shall be reduced to their normal numbers and confined to their normal duties."

"Should this demand of Sud-ten Germanism for restoration of the normal situation, in which negotiations only can take place, not be accepted in six hours and acceptance and withdrawal of measures be made known by broadcast, leaders of the Sudeten German Party decline all responsibility for all future developments."

BRITAIN-INDIA DEFENCE CHANGES

New Agreement Includes Increased Annual Grant

LONDON (CP)—Three battalions of British troops are being transferred from India to Great Britain and a fourth will follow later as a result of an agreement reached with the Indian government touching the whole field of defence.

Discussions between the two governments have reached a point where there is agreement on several major principles. The British Government, subject to the approval of Parliament, will increase from £1,500,000 ($7,200,000) to £2,000,000 ($9,600,000) the annual grant paid India in aid of defence.

In addition Parliament will be asked to provide £5,000,000 ($24,000,000) as a capital grant. The grant will be used to re-equip British and Indian units and to purchase aircraft for squadrons of the air force.

The British Government will send a board of experts to India to inquire into military and financial aspects of defence problems. Final agreement will be deferred until they report.

Lord Chatfield, retiring First Sea Lord of the Admiralty, will be chairman of the board, which will leave in October.

Inquiry Urged In Labor Field

Canadian Trades Congress Hears Industrial Espionage Charges

By HAROLD J. FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today voted to urge the Dominion government "to initiate a widespread investigation into industrial espionage in Canada."

It adopted a Hamilton steel workers' resolution which said industrial espionage had become widespread.

Northern Ontario miners were battling one of the biggest systems of espionage, said Mike Mokray of Kirkland Lake, organizer for the mine, mill and smelter workers.

"Hundreds of workmen have sacrificed their jobs," he said. "The mining industry has instituted one of the most vicious espionage systems experienced in any industry. It has spent thousands of dollars to organize spies who trail miners to their homes."

French Press Calm
PARIS (CP-Havas)—French press reaction today to Chancellor Hitler's Nuremberg speech was calm.

"An immediate crisis has been avoided and a military invasion of Czechoslovakia seems to have been escaped," Leon Blum wrote in the Socialist newspaper Le Populaire.

"Chancellor Hitler will now attempt infiltration and decomposition from within."

Italy Urges Clear Way for Sudetens

ROME (AP)—A bulletin issued through a government department today urged Czechoslovakia to give the Sudeten Germans the right of determining their own destiny as a means of avoiding "disorder and war."

The bulletin, Informazione Diplomatica, given out by the ministry of popular culture, declared the world does not want a war designed only to maintain "the lordship of Prague over the Sudetens."

It added that "giving the Sudetens the possibility of separating from Prague" would be the way of justice and, above all, the way of peace.

Nazis Provoked, States Spokesman

BERLIN (AP)—A Nazi spokesman today called the action of Czechoslovakia in imposing martial law on eight Sudeten German communities an "outright provocation."

Nazis took the position that the clamping on of martial law and the deaths of several persons—said here to be all Sudetens—in demonstrations after the Hitler speech constituted Czechoslovakia's "answer to Hitler."

Der Angriff, organ of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, declared, "The cup is full!"

The newspaper Nachtausgabe, referring heatedly to the latest events, demanded "immediate and complete freedom of the Sudetens from their Czech enemies with completely free opportunity to decide their own destiny."

Empire Defence Debated

British Commonwealth Relations' Conference at Sydney
Hears Delegates Suggest Limitations for Dominions

Written for the Canadian Press
By PROF. NORMAN A. M. MAC
KENZIE

SYDNEY, N.S.W.—Should the Empire be at war the contributions of the Dominions to a European struggle would be limited to aviators, equipment, munitions and food, one authority said in a discussion of foreign policy and defence at the British Commonwealth Relations' Conference here Tuesday.

The conference is being held behind closed doors.

The authority declared Britain does not expect to send an expeditionary force to Europe in the event of war. It would depend on the Royal Air Force and the navy.

It was suggested the Dominions should be responsible for their own defence and should in time extend this responsibility to neighboring areas. Under this set-up Canada would assist in protecting commerce on the Atlantic and Pacific near her shores and would form a co-operating link with the United States for the defence of North America and for the supply of munitions to the United Kingdom.

Australia and New Zealand would protect the south Pacific area and lend assistance to Singapore. India would help with the Indian Ocean and Persian Gulf areas and South Africa would advise and assist with Africa.

The United Kingdom would be specially responsible for Europe and for the navy.

Some delegates were interested in the status of Esquimaux, B.C., and Halifax, N.S., as naval bases. The Canadian delegates stated they believed an agreement for their use by the British navy was still legally and morally binding.

B.C.-ALASKA HIGHWAY
The question of the United States building a military highway through British Columbia to Alaska and the defence of British Columbia also were discussed. Delegates thought an invasion of British Columbia or the Canadian Atlantic coast unlikely, but they thought hit-and-run raids possible. The danger of enemies using the British Columbia coast for submarine bases also was mentioned.

The general opinion of British delegates was that there is no thought of abandoning the Mediterranean. That route might be interrupted during a conflict, but as long as Britain held Gibraltar and the Suez Canal it was impossible for Mediterranean powers to interfere with communications in the Indian Ocean or on Atlantic routes.

It was also possible to control commerce in and out of the Mediterranean as long as Britain held these points. When the possibility of British oil supplies being cut off was mentioned, it was said the Halifax oil line supplies only 5 per cent of British requirements.

INDIA'S FORCES
Indian delegates indicated their dissatisfaction with the present organization of the military forces of their country and said they wanted complete Indianization of the forces in India.

While there was a difference of opinion among delegates on methods of co-operation in British Commonwealth foreign policy, all speakers agreed on the desirability of world peace and the necessity of establishing world order. All seemingly were agreed that an imperial federation or a scheme of organized central control of foreign policy were impracticable.

Some felt consultation between the Dominions and the British government in a crisis was desirable, while others thought independent Dominion policies were inevitable and hoped these would coincide with those of the United Kingdom. They were reluctant to agree that the Dominions would be committed automatically as a result of any decisions of the United Kingdom government.

LABOR VIEWS
Labor and Socialist members of all delegations were uneasy about the policies of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's government. They felt there would be a better chance for understanding in Europe if there were a labor government in Britain. They strongly favored a return to League of Nations leadership in Europe and collective security under the League.

There was general support for some kind of league. Some delegates favored a universal body with coercive powers, while others believed a strong league with full coercive powers necessary. All agreed that the breakdown of the league made the problem of British Commonwealth foreign policies much more difficult.

Some delegates suggested the establishment of liaison officers from the Dominions in the Brit-loudspeakers in the streets of many cities.

A report was circulated Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein had gone to Eger and would later come to Prague, probably tomorrow, to see President Eduard Benes. The report was not confirmed immediately.

TROUBLE ONLY STARTING
This forenoon the belief was widely held here that "while there is no war now, the trouble is just beginning."

The dangerous dispute about self-determination for Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans, to whom Chancellor Hitler yesterday enigmatically promised help, was viewed as a continuing problem and one that could not be settled quickly.

It appeared certain Czechoslovakia intended to keep herself ready for any eventuality.

Martial Law As 8 Die in Riots

Wave of Disorders
Sweeps Czechoslovakia;
Tanks in Streets

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovakia was swept today by a wave of disorders which caused eight deaths and resulted in the government imposing martial law in eight Sudeten German districts.

Most of the disturbances occurred during the night and in the early morning before martial law was ordered, the most serious being at Ausgig, Graslitz and Kaaden, all Sudeten centres.

The dead included four Sudetens, a Czech soldier, two policemen and a Czech civilian.

Although the government listed only eight killed, Sudeten chiefs insisted there were at least a dozen.

Widespread minor disturbances resulted in a number of persons being injured. Instances of Sudetens attacking public buildings and crossing the frontier into Germany added to the worries of the government.

Military rule was applied to Falkenau, Boehmisch-Kermant, Karlovy Vary, Elbogen, Eger, Neudeck, Pressnitz and Kaaden, all Sudeten strongholds.

MAY EXTEND ACTION
A responsible government source said the government would extend martial law to all other Sudeten areas and throughout the entire republic if necessary to preserve order.

Shops were closed and work abandoned in the Sudeten areas. Celebrations reached their climax in the raising of a large swastika, display of which is illegal, on the Eger city hall flagpole.

Until the tanks came, joyful Germans cheered, paraded and sang folk songs in inns. "The day of deliverance is at hand," was heard on all sides.

GROWING CONCERN
In Prague, as authorities expressed growing concern over the turbulence in the border areas, Premier Milan Hodza and President Eduard Benes kept close touch with the situation.

Several members of the Sudeten German Party negotiation committee rushed to Eger to investigate the situation.

While the government's action was described as martial law, officials made it clear troops would not step in unless police and civil authorities were unable to maintain order. It also was made clear persons arrested would be tried to civil rather than military courts.

DEATH PENALTY
The death penalty for disturbers of the peace was ordered and an emergency civil court machinery was being set up in the Sudeten communities under martial law. The army was ordered to protect the extraordinary courts.

Civil rights were strictly limited. Parades were forbidden and the freedom of speech was limited.

Under the emergency laws, a commission of four judges would have power to impose the death penalty for disturbance of the peace. A unanimous decision by the commission would make hanging mandatory within two hours after the sentence was pronounced.

Persons condemned to death for political disturbances were entitled to appeal to the President for clemency, but there was to be no extension of the two-hour period before execution.

The commission of judges was to move from town to town accompanied by a priest, doctor, executioner and the latter's assistants.

The new government's order was broadcast at noon through

Nazis Foresee New Anschluss

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

NUREMBERG (AP)—German Nazis looked beyond Chancellor Hitler's Nuremberg address today and saw only one inevitable end—the German absorption of 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans of Czechoslovakia.

The Chancellor, as Nazis summarized his speech, stood firm against British and French pressure with a promise of aid when needed by Sudeten Germans. He left the way open for peaceful settlement by admonishing the Prague government to negotiate an understanding with the Sudetens.

Hitler did not in specific words say armed force would be used to assure the right of "self-determination" to the Sudetens, but he announced the building of great new fortifications on the French frontier.

The Chancellor enunciated his policy, without narrating specific details of future action, in four portions of his 78-minute address closing the 10th annual Nazi party rally yesterday.

NO MORE PHRASES
"What Germans demand is the right of self-determination which every other people possess, and no phrases."

"I assure the democracies that the fate of the Sudetens is not a matter of indifference to us. If these harassed people feel they are without rights and aid, they will get both from us."

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP)—One of the heaviest September shipments of apples in the history of the Annapolis Valley apple-growing district was en route today to the markets of the United Kingdom.

The early shipments were helped by good growing weather conditions and growers declared the quality and appearance of the apples were the best on record.

Last Thursday the freighter Thyra sailed from Port Williams with 20,000 barrels of early apples in her hold, while 48,000 barrels have been transported by rail to the dock at Halifax.

An additional 20,000 barrels were shipped through Port Williams today in the Ss. Havmoey.

PRESBYTERY HOLDS OPENING MEETING

Delegates From the United Churches on Island May End Sessions Tonight

The opening meeting of the semi-annual session of the United Presbytery of Victoria at the Metropolitan Church last evening, took the form of a devotional service.

The Victoria Presbytery takes in all United Churches of Vancouver Island. Approximately 60 members were present. Rev. Bryce Wallace, president, conducted the service.

Following a brief address by Mr. Wallace, the members took part in communion.

He titled his address "A Communion Meditation," and said that the thoughts had in communion with Christ must be the thoughts that are had throughout the ordinary day's work. Communion with Christ must be a Christian communion.

With reference to the present war scare, Mr. Wallace said that lives were too sacred to be smashed for no reason at all. Human life values were cheap, but, if the layman carried the vision of Christ, which he had at communion, out into the world, peace would be near.

Several hymns were sung during the meeting. Mrs. W. P. Bunt, Nanaimo, accompanied at the piano.

The session may be concluded tonight.

The only land under the United States flag ever visited by Columbus was Puerto Rico.

PRIZE SHEEP ARE JUDGED AT EXHIBITION—Behind the sheep barns yesterday afternoon, Professor H. M. King of the University of British Columbia started judging the many sheep at the Victoria Fair. He said it was the best show he had seen in Victoria in some years. Above is shown a group of southdown shearing ewes being judged by Mr. King.

Horseshow and Rodeo Please

Large First-night Audience Sees Thrilling Riding at Exhibition

A large first-night crowd attended the horseshow and wild west rodeo in connection with the Willows Exhibition last night and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent performance. The horseshow, with variations and different events, will be presented each night this week, except Saturday in the Horseshow Building.

Some thrilling and daring stunts were performed by the visiting cowboy and cowgirl riders. They did trick and fancy roping with amazing skill and their fancy rides were splendid. They stood on their heads on horses' backs and tore around the ring at great speed; they jumped off and on and did hand-springs; they hung to the horses' tails and the saddles.

Perhaps the most thrilling part of the rodeo was the bronco riding. Half a dozen bucking horses were saddled and mounted. Invariably, they dashed their heads into the wooden walls, with resounding bangs.

FOUR-HORSE TEAMS

The first event on the program last night was for the best four-horse team, each horse to weigh 1,400 pounds or over. Some beautiful specimens were seen as the big animals trotted and ran around the enclosures, their harness jingling. First was A. C. Leslie of Watrous, Saskatchewan, for his Clydesdale breeders. The Crystal Dairy of Vancouver was second; J. W. Munro of Carstairs, Alberta, third, and R. Thorburn of Vancouver came fourth.

Children under 16 years rode in a class of four jumps of three feet six inches. First was Miss J. Johnston on Polly; second, Miss Ori Parris on Vesta; third, Miss Betty Denniston on Silver and fourth, Master Basil Plimley on Tony. The first prize, a silver cup, was donated by J. Little, and the second, a $5 scrip, by the Hudson's Bay Company. Children under 12 years were in the next event, the winner being Miss Ori Parris on Vesta. Second was Miss Nancy Jardine on Patsy; third, Miss Mayford Wilson on Carry On, and fourth, Miss Anne Cavenagh on Polly.

Lieut. Governor Hamber sponsored the middle-weight hunter class, which was won by Mrs. D. B. Carley, riding Mrs. H. Jutson Fisher's Hurrah Kate. Bob Sinclair, riding Baldy, and Miss Josephine A. Rithet on Nevada were second and third, respectively.

SPECTACULAR JUMPS

The last event was a spectacular performance of eight jumps. It was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. H. Jutson Fisher and will be continued Wednesday evening. Some thrilling riding and expert horsemanship was noted in this.

The horses and their mounts went over a brush jump, a picket fence, post and rail, pig pen, brush jump, stone wall, post and rail and a triple bar, with a six-foot spread.

Miss Josephine Rithet's team of three was placed first for last night, with Mrs. H. Jutson Fisher's team second and the Victoria Riding Academy in third place.

Gordon Harris, Bob Shanks, Bob Sinclair and Miss Terese Todd were among the riders in this latter event and among the horses were Chenango, Nevada, Hurrah Kate, Chiquita and Omar. Dr. M. Sparrow acted as judge, with Fred Ellison as ringmaster and H. E. R. Nesbitt director in charge.

TELLS CHAMBER OF HEALTH WORK

Dr. J. L. M. Anderson Says Education Teaches People How to Help Selves

An interesting address on "This Business of Health" was given last night by Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, public school health inspector for Victoria City, to members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce at their general meeting. It was part of the Health Week program.

The speaker pointed out to his audience that public health was looked after by the official health agencies, which are maintained by public funds and voluntary health units. The main endeavor of these two agencies was to co-operate to the fullest extent in their work, so that there would be no overlapping and so that a more thorough check could be made on health conditions in the community.

He sketched the work of the Dominion and provincial health departments and noted the fine efforts that are being made by the League of Nations in regard to international health.

In outlining some of the duties of the city health department, the speaker said that the city's water supply must be given thorough inspection at frequent intervals to prevent contamination. Inspection of food in restaurants was looked after by sanitary inspectors to see that disease is not created through that source. Prevention of accidents was another duty performed by the local department, inspections being made to see that workmen are not unduly exposed to health hazards.

The health of school children was always a main duty for the agencies, the inspector said. Illness was not the only thing to contend with in the schools. Inspection must be made to see that the lighting was sufficient and

MEDICAL CARE FOR PRESCHOOL CHILD

Dr. J. L. M. Anderson, School Doctor, Speaks on Health Week

"The committee in charge of Health Week are this year centering their program on the needs of the preschool child, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, school health inspector for Victoria said today. "This is a well-chosen focal point, for the well-being of the toddler is continually influenced by the health of the other members of the family. Further a contented, well-nourished child makes a definite contribution to the happiness of the home."

"Living conditions which affect the whole family have their most serious effect on the growing children. While the school child is away most of the time, and has outside activities, the interests of the baby are entirely in the home. They are, at this susceptible age continually influenced by the peace and harmony of the happy, well-organized home, or by the unrest and friction of unhappy surroundings."

"The School Medical Service is primarily concerned with the health of children attending school. They are constantly watched for impairments of general health or evidence of disease, and steps are quickly taken to have any abnormal conditions corrected. It is felt, however, by those directing this work, that the care of the little child in the home lays the important foundations for his later school life. A child entering school with a healthy background, well nourished, with a wholesome outlook on life, is in the best position to carry through successfully the school program."

"We have long recognized the importance of the regular examination of babies during their first two years of life. The school boards, too, have for many years conducted regular medical examinations of the pupils. It is now considered equally important to follow the progress of the child during those most susceptible years before he enters school. Adequate nutrition and protection from infectious diseases, which take a more severe form and cause a greater number of fatalities and more frequent complications, are of paramount importance during the preschool period."

"Information regarding the means of protecting children from any of these four diseases may be obtained from the family physician, or in pamphlet form from the health department in the City Hall."

Business Men Urge U.S. Keep Out of War

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A plea the United States keep out of any possible European war is voiced in a statement approved by the board of the National Small Business Men's Association.

The statement, issued yesterday, reads:

"We urge our government to serve notice on all European governments that the United States will take no part in their madness, that we will close our doors to traffic in war aid of any sort, and that the governments responsible for perpetuating war upon a helpless world will gain the enmity of the American people for generations to come."

The association began its annual convention here today.

John and Mary thought their happiness was complete when they moved into a new home, larger than their old one—two storeys, in fact. Then a serious problem arose. It seemed to Mary that she was always upstairs when the telephone rang downstairs. One midnight telephone call that sent John dashing downstairs in the dark, and left him with a bruised toe and a frayed temper, convinced him that something had to be done. The solution, of course, was a bedside telephone. They had one installed, and everything is rosy now.

Europe's Turmoil

ONE OF THE IMMEDIATE RESULTS of the new "atmosphere" generated by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's concluding speech at the Nazi Congress in Nuremberg yesterday is a dangerous rise of temperature in several important Sudeten-German sections of Czechoslovakia. Martial law has been imposed in the troubled areas—backed by the requisite fighting equipment—and the government at Prague has announced, as this is written, that the whole country will be placed under the control of the military if the circumstances shall warrant.

This, in brief, is the situation in the republic on the morrow of the final day of the Nazi "love feast" in the ancient and interesting Bavarian city of the toy-makers. Der Fuehrer's announcement on which the world at large had been hanging with varying degrees of apprehension for several days, while containing no definite suggestion of positive action likely to produce from London, Paris, and Moscow new warnings, has unquestionably left the impression in the minds of most of the statesmen directly concerned that the democratic nations must now assume an attitude of watchful waiting under conditions much more tense than in the midsummer days of 1914. As we have said here before, one false move, a more or less serious clash between the conflicting elements at any point in Czechoslovakia, and Europe once again might find itself a seething cauldron of battling hatreds.

The most significant statement which Herr Hitler made at Nuremberg was that he and his equally vicious colleagues at Berlin intended to "rescue" the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia whom he says, with a perversion of the truth which is typical of the higher Nazi philosophy, are being "tortured" by 7,000,000 Czechs. Just what does this mean? Do the disturbances in such important cities as Eger—for several centuries Bohemian and now one of the most important border communities—Pressnitz and Neudeck, all of which are Sudeten strongholds, indicate that the "boring from within" process carried out by Nazi leader Konrad Henlein under instructions from Berlin is about to get a practical application very similar in effect to that which preceded Anschluss with Austria? The Reichsfuehrer obviously is hoping for a serious "overt act" on the part of the Czechs in that section of the republic in which Germans predominate—where the Sudetens, as a matter of fact, considerably outnumber loyal citizens of the smaller republic. Such an outbreak, providing it were engineered on a sufficiently large magnitude, would provide what Herr Hitler would consider adequate reason for armed intervention on an imposing scale. But this "new technique" of Nazi invasion has now become so notoriously patent to all with eyes to see and minds to think that the case upon which he is relying to justify his "rescue" of the "tortured" Sudetens is about as thin and unsupported as it could well be. Neither Great Britain, France, nor Russia will be taken in at this stage by such a clumsy adaptation of this idea.

Yet this is the situation which is causing Europe and the world at large to continue its attitude of watchful waiting, waiting in an atmosphere which is fraying the nerves of millions of people in Greater Germany as well as bringing anxiety to mothers in cities, towns and villages thousands of miles away from Mitteleuropa's powder keg. But the Nuremberg deft stands. In the words of the Yorkshire Post, the Conservative daily owned by the family of Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, "the mailed fist has been shaken in the face of Europe, and never have militarists of the past challenged the world in so direct and uncompromising manner." And, following on this note, the Edinburgh Scotsman reminds us that "the threat of war remains in the air, and international tension will not be appreciably diminished until the process of virtual mobilization in Germany is reversed."

If there is any consoling reflection to be drawn from this aggravating condition it is that the forces of democracy—with unquestionable moral right on their side in the circumstances of the present—are ready to meet the despoiler if he shall choose to march along the path which he argues the Supreme Surveyor has mapped out for him, if he shall choose to consign himself to political oblivion and carry with him the responsibility for a new assault on what is left of our much-vaunted civilization.

Making Honesty Difficult

IT IS NOT EASY FOR ONE WHO SUBscribes to the time-honored philosophy that the laborer is worthy of his hire, to refrain from resorting to language more forceful than polite over the following dispatch printed in this newspaper:

"MONTREAL (CP)—Bank clerks would be involved in fewer thefts if they were better paid, Judge Amedee Monet suggested today as he sentenced Raymond Coartemache, 34-year-old bank clerk who was paid $14 per week, to six months' imprisonment with hard labor for theft of $3,867 from his employer, Banque Canadienne Nationale. The judge criticized the auditing system which permitted the forgery and theft to go unnoticed for 16 months." Sixty dollars a month for a... occupying a position of trust and... large sums of money, is a wage scale that furnishes its own commentary. The judge's observation on the system operating in the bank in question also speaks for itself.

Mr. Maitland's "IF"

WITH NEITHER PREJUDICE NOR ANY intention to impart a seriousness to them they do not deserve, we quote a few observations from the report of a speech delivered to local Conservatives by Mr. R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P. the other day. He prefaced them by an allusion to what he called a "growing tendency" to dictatorship in the Pattullo Government. They are:

"If we can convince the people at the next election that the Conservative Party stands for the higher things we can sweep the country. Our duty goes beyond an election or a by-election. It goes into the very hearts of men and women and the things that our forefathers fought for and handed on to us to cherish and maintain.

"Democracy is on trial. We come of a breed that must defend democracy. We read of what is happening in Germany, Italy and Russia. We do not criticize. That sort of thing is for those who like it. But it is not our faith. We believe in intellectual liberty, law and order and the proper administration of justice. We believe the highest thing in the land is our government."

We have stated many times in these columns recently that democracy is on trial. We have read of what is happening in Germany, Italy and Russia. But we fail to see what all this has to do with the alleged "growing tendency" to dictatorship in the Pattullo Government. Of course, as Mr. Maitland suggests, "If" his party "can convince the people at the next election..." and so on, we may be enlightened.

The Conservative party's trouble is that the democratic people of British Columbia apparently do not think the Conservative Party stands "for the higher things" of which Mr. Maitland speaks. They endorsed the Pattullo Government a little more than a year ago with as much enthusiasm as they elected the Liberal Party to office in 1933—after more than five years of administration that split the Conservative Party to atoms.

London's Invulnerability

VERY CONSIDERABLE TERRITORY would be under cover if all the descriptive articles concerning London's elaborate system of air-raid precautions were spread out on the ground. The volume and regularity of reports published on the matter during the last year or so must have produced in the average man's mind the impression of a city as attack-proof as any community on the face of the earth could be made.

But if London's protective system actually does represent the greatest lengths to which man has yet been able to go in preserving the safety of a civilian population, there are not words sufficient to comment properly on a brief narrative which appeared in the newspapers recently.

The story simply relayed a noted British aviation authority's conviction, based on new descriptions of bombardment tactics in Spain, that the preparations against aerial attack which London has undertaken will prove utterly without value. Bombers flying at high altitudes may shut off their motors and glide in silence at such speeds that detection from the city before the bombs were loosed would be impossible. This is what has lately been done in Spain.

If any emotions are stirred by the foregoing picture they should furnish all the comment that is necessary. Beyond that, however, it is reasonable to infer that the impregnable city has yet to be built.

Comes autumn—the year's little breathing spell between the hay fever and the cold.

Just outside the League of Nations Palace a trap for war tanks has been built. Which suggests that the palace itself has been a pretty good trap for think-tanks.

Peace or War?

DOROTHY THOMPSON, Columnist

TODAY THE WORLD trembles on the brink of war, and when all is analyzed, everything boils down to the fact that a man and the clique around him in Nazi Germany have got themselves into a position where they can afford neither to make war nor to make peace. From victory to victory—re-militarization—fortification of the Rhineland—annexation of Austria—Hitler has been marching his way into catastrophe. Nazism started as a "movement," and it remains a movement—that is to say, its nature is that it must move. But the room in which it can move safely has definitely reached its limits. Hitler must now either retreat or throw Germany and the world into catastrophe.

Let us not be deluded about any of the minor aspects of the issue. The woes of the Sudeten Germans, real or imagined, have little to do with it. Hitler is not moving to liberate the Germans in Upper Silesia, or the Polish corridor, and has openly washed his hands of the Germans in the Italian Alpe Adige (South Tyrol), whose nationality has been brutally exterminated. And he is celebrating his friendship with Hungary, whose German minority has been thoroughly and programatically Magyarized. The Sudeten German issue is only incidental to the question of whether or not Germany shall dominate Europe and the world. The Czechoslovakia democratic republic stands in the way of Germany's desired expansion to the east. Therefore, Czechoslovakia must be cut loose from her alliances in order to be destroyed, and so far no proposal of a compromise, however generous, is acceptable to Hitler, if it permits Czechoslovakia to survive as anything except a vassal state.

IMPROVEMENT

DESPITE ALL THE EVIL NEWS from Europe and the sound of marching armies, one is bound to say that in some respects at least the world is improving. I mean there has been a notable decline in bridge. A few years ago a man would no more think of being ignorant of bridge than of being ignorant of table manners. Indeed, people were much more particular about their bridge than their manners or their morals or their brains.

A man who knew nothing of public affairs, who was as ignorant as a savage, could be an ornament to society if he understood the art of finessing, and a good cross-ruff was considered more valuable than a brain any day. The only good thing about that mad era was that it used to give fellows like me something silly to write about when we needed it; and, being unable to learn the game ourselves, we could always pretend superiority over those who were clever at it. We could always say it was silly when it was only difficult.

Alas, all that material has slipped through our fingers now, for the bridge era has closed and you can go to a friend's house now without being forced to sit all evening in a stiff chair using your brain. Why, the five-suit bridge game, which was to sweep the continent, proved a complete flop and nobody has heard of it for months. But one reads that mah-jong, which was once the rage here and made many people take their first interest in the Orient, is still popular in Shanghai. I dare say that somewhere someone has a ouija board. But we are definitely getting more intelligent. We have had sense enough to know that bridge was too complicated for us.

WAR DEBT

THE VALUABLE SATURDAY EVENING

Post runs a long and rather bitter editorial about the British war debt to the United States. It says that Britain, spending billions on armaments, could well afford to pay a mere $200,000,000 a year to the United States, but instead has repudiated her bond and broken her word. And the Post scorns the suggestion, now being put forward in England, that the British government's debt to the U.S. government should be covered by an issuance of British bonds to be sold to the U.S. public—in other words, the transference of the debt from the U.S. government direct to the American people.

This is all very interesting and rather melancholy. The repudiation of war debts had been so well forgotten, though it was only yesterday, more or less, that it seems unkind and rather futile to bring it all up again. And it doesn't matter in the least, for the reason that none of the countries involved intend to pay the debts of the last war or the debts of the approaching war either. If they can't pay their old debts, how will they be able to carry their new ones after a new war has bled them white?

The most obvious thing about the next war is that it will bankrupt every government in it, and, no doubt, cause revolution in every country. So you might as well discuss the debts of the Graeco-Persian War, or the Thirty Years War as the debts of the Great War. They form an interesting calculation for an actuary, but that is all. President Roosevelt, who is an enthusiastic philatelist, might well enlarge his hobby to include a collection of repudiated bonds of the last war and the next. These bonds will be useful only as collectors' specimens in an album.

FOOD ON THE SHELVES

From Kansas City Star

It is canning time in rural districts. The reports of loaded shelves are rolling in—shelves sagging under dozens of quarts of green beans, beets, peas, frying chicken and what not.

This doesn't necessarily mean prosperity on the farm, but it does mean food for next winter. It is a farmer's advantage which often plunges his city cousins into sentimental ecstasies. So safe, so secure, just like the pioneers who wrested a living from the ground and filled the backyard cave with food for winter. No dependence there.

Too much of that kind of thing, of course, is likely to get on the nerves of the farmer. After all, one does hope for a lot more than food from his efforts. Food doesn't mean that a farmer can pay a new car this year. It doesn't pay the oil bill for the tractor or the bill from the implement house. . . . Still, there is something satisfying about shelves heavily loaded with food. Perhaps it is a little of tradition holding on in all men. Long shelves sagging under canned food inspire confidence. The interest on the mortgage may be coming due, but one may face it with the assurance of a full stomach. Two hundred quarts of food in sight is always more assuring than next month's pay cheque. The door can be closed against snowstorms, blocked roads or debt collectors. The descendant of ancient nomads makes camp with food for the winter. For the time being he lets the complicated economic system go hang.

A PAGAN'S PRAYER

(As attributed to Socrates in the phaedrus of Plato)

O, great god Pan, and all the gods that be I pray you make me beautiful within, And for my outward comforts give to me But such as make for peace and banish sin

I do not ask for houses, gold or lands To dull my sympathy or swell my pride But that you give to these poor, groping hands

The strength to succor and the skill to guide, Content, with homespun robe and barley crust To count none rich, except the wise and just.

MILK AND DISEASE

From Winnipeg Free Press

The argument for compulsory pasteurization is really overwhelming, and it has been proven in an interesting way in Toronto, which has had compulsory pasteurization for many years. There is practically no complaint, and it has been a valuable safeguard to the public health, as the following incident proves.

At the Hospital for Sick Children there were found to be many cases of tuberculosis of the bone. Bovine tuberculosis makes its attack in this way and not against the lungs. Why so many cases of tuberculosis of the bone in a city with 100 per cent pasteurization? Investigation showed that practically every case had come from outside the city, and practically none from the city itself. What greater proof is needed of the protection provided by pasteurization?

For 20 years or more, the health and happiness of the children of Toronto have been protected in this way.

GIVE CATS A CHANCE

From High River, Alta., Times

A cat lover of this district strongly disapproves the cat-baiting in progress in High River. She considers it ridiculous and cruel thus to haunt and harry the inoffensive tabby. Her contention that birds have wings, which gives them all the advantage that nature intended them to have.

She points also to remarkable qualities of persistence and tenacity possessed by cats. Instead of hounding them from the face of the earth, man would do well to respect and honor them as they deserve. In support of this she tells an astonishing story of endurance and will to survive: A woman in Turner Valley, planning to go to England, decided to take her photograph with her. It was carefully packed and shipped, and on its arrival in England, out jumped the family cat from the machine. Or it did not actually jump, at least it was found alive in the photograph, after having been entombed for thousands of miles.

This incident, and other similar incidents are brought forward by champions of cat rights to prove that any species of animal with such qualities of endurance and such indomitable spirit should be treated with awe instead of disapproval and contumely.

ITALIAN ARMY'S HEALTH

To the Editor:—Dr. Aldo Castellani, K.C.M.G., Italian High Consultant and Inspector General of the medical units in East Africa and the Red Sea, describes the hygienic methods employed in connection with the Italian forces in the recent Abyssinian campaign. (British Medical Journal, April 9, 1938);

The comparatively small number of cases of dysentery were due to pure drinking water and the cleanly habits of the men. No vaccines were used. Those containing the Shiga-Kruse bacillus caused severe reactions. Regarding oral vaccines, Dr. Castellani had not been able to convince himself that they were really efficacious. No cases of typhus were reported thanks to the imposition of rigorous cleanliness. The men were inoculated against typhoid and paratyphoid, and there were 438 cases with 161 deaths. Obviously the only real protection against disease was cleanliness.

TRANSPORTATION PROPOSAL

To the Editor:—Sixty days hence, citizens of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt might get enlightenment on their transportation problem by an experiment along the following lines: stop incoming trams at Cook and Figgard Streets, and at or near the Post Office, transferring passengers at these points to busses, which should make the circuit of this larger loop in about the same time now required by the trams to traverse the smaller loop; thus six or eight busses moving constantly in opposite directions should give approximately the same speed of service as at present, while eliminating much of the noise and traffic delay.

A similar plan is in use in Boston, Mass., but in the reverse direction; trams take passengers to outlying districts, for the reason that rail transportation of heavy loads over long distances is cheaper than that of busses, which in turn are better for distributing passengers where the use of rails is impracticable or undesirable. Freedom from noise and traffic obstruction is obtained by placing trams underground.

Such an experiment might give us valuable information before we had taken irrevocable action. Once we had experienced comparative quiet down town, it seems doubtful whether we should be willing to return to present conditions, though whether this would mean the use of quiet trams such as may be found in many English cities, or of modern busses, it would be difficult to predict. The merit of the proposal, if any, lies in its flexibility, and its aim to enhance one of our great assets, quiet. Such objective might have been dubbed quixotic a few years ago, but since London and Paris have taken action toward the same end, it can no longer be called fantastic.

Ultimately, of course, steam busses should be used for distribution and collection of passengers down town, because of their quick and silent starting; loading and unloading could be greatly expedited or change of vehicles at transfer points made automatic. H. H. WILCOX.

Information from MISS DORA KITTO, Honorary Secretary, 315 Sayward Bldg.

From the Duchess of Hamilton and Brandon

"Wish you every success in your campaign against what Victor Hugo rightly described as the crime of vivisection. The Duke and I firmly believe that the present craze for inoculation, immunization, vaccination is responsible for much ill-health, in addition to its being repulsive from a moral and hygienic point of view. We had none of our seven children vaccinated, inoculated or immunized and none of our nine grandchildren." (August 29, 1938.)

TIME LIMIT FOR SPEECHES

From London Times

The Southern Rhodesian Parliament have adopted the traffic-lights system to control the length of speeches by members. When a member rises a green light appears on the clerk's desk. Five minutes from the time limit amber takes the place of green; and when time is up red flashes the member back into his seat.

Amber is likely to prove an unpopular color for Hansard reporters, as its appearance leads to a rapid acceleration in the rate of speaking.

Interest in Manufactures

Variety and Excellence of Displays Make Manufacturers' Building a Popular Rendezvous With Exhibition Visitors

Of all the attractions at the Provincial Fair this fall the Manufacturers' Building, located at the entrance to the Willows Park, is one of the outstanding points of interest with its great variety of exhibits and the general excellence of displays.

Here the visitor can find the very latest ideas in labor-saving appliances and decorative detail designed to introduce comfort and pleasure to the modern home.

One of the pleasantest hours spent at the exhibition slips by all too quickly in viewing the remarkably fine displays in this building.

The art department on the mezzanine floor also has particular appeal to this year's fair-goer.

In this section is presented the work of the school children of Greater Victoria—drawing, modeling, painting—demonstrating the excellence of the art courses in the schools.

There are also clever displays of sculpture and pottery work.

In the photographic section there is a commercial display by the Association of Professional Photographers of Victoria, the exhibitors including the Campbell Studios, Hester Wilkinson, Cherer, Wilfred Gibson, Ross Weller, H. U. Knight, Robert Fort, A. V. Pollard, and J. J. McCarthy.

Another exhibition of photography is that of the junior clubs of Victoria and the amateur snapshot competition.

In the hobbies section is an attractive display of boys' working airplane models presented by the Victoria Aero Club.

REMOTE CONTROL

There is something intriguing about the operation of a radio set by remote control. You can find out just how it is done by visiting the B. C. Electric Co.'s special display just inside the main doors of the Manufacturers' Building. The B.C.E.C. also shows the new Electrolux gas refrigerator, electric washers and cleaners, gas and electric ranges, gas fires and water heaters.

The fruit growers of Saanich peninsula, represented by the Victoria Fruit Packing Co. Ltd., successors to the Holsum Packing Co., have an interesting display of canned fruits, jams and jellies with a sideline of evaporated logans and blackberries.

Fashion's decree is epitomized in the elaborate display by the Hudson's Bay Company, occupying a large section of floor space in the centre of the exhibition building. Here are modeled luxurious furs and fur-trimmed coats, millinery, shoes in the newest styles—in fact everything in the way of ladies' dress accessories. A handsome suite of drawing-room furniture and a striking showing of Hudson's Bay blankets complete this exhibit.

WORK OF DISABLED

Adjoining is the Red Cross Workshop exhibit in charge of Stanley Okell. Much interest is being displayed in the work of Victoria's 28 disabled soldiers, which is made up of useful articles such as kitchen cabinets and tables, basketware, garden seats, metal refrigerators, garbages, incinerators, tin-smithing and ornamental copper and brass work. Utility Agencies exhibit three household products—the Artmoore cleaner, the wonder cultivator and Plofilm, a transparent rubber composition used for the covering of bridge tables, and in the manufacture of refrigerator and moth-proof container bags.

Gardeners will be interested in the display of Scott and Peden Ltd. in one corner of the building. This exhibit embraces all kinds of fertilizer treatments, sprays, dairy feed and live stock supplies, field and garden seeds, garden tools, Martin-Senour paints, Ogilvie's Royal Household flour and a special section devoted to Spratt's famous dog foods and birdseed.

Diggon-Hibben Ltd. present a fine showing of modern office furniture, the feature of which is the Remier Inter-communicator, by which means conversation can be carried on between offices by merely talking into a transmitter or listening through the receiver. Christmas is anticipated by a new showing of Christmas cards, specializing box lines and featuring Canadian scenes.

TOUCH TUNING

Touch tuning is featured in a special radio display by Macdonald Electric Ltd., occupying a large corner space. There is also an exhibit of electric direct-dry washers, cleaners and an attractive Chesterfield suite display occupying an entire booth.

Near the entrance is a display by Coast Hardware, featuring a wide variety of oil and coal cooking ranges, heaters, sawdust burners and general hardware supplies.

The Vancouver Island Hardwood Floor Co. have a large booth displaying Johns-Manville products, including asbestos roofing shingles and Flexboard for bathroom and kitchen finishing, also Heattillator fireplaces.

George T. Willis and Son of the Enterprise wharf and publishers of the Seafarers and Fishermen's Guide, operate a cinema show for the benefit of exhibition patrons.

Harte-Andrews Paints Ltd. and Kresge's demonstrate various lines of paints and washable compositions.

The newest development in air-conditioning units is shown in an attractive display of products of the Imperial Oil Company.

A demonstrator is on hand to display the advantages of the Ballard air conditioner, as well as oil-fired boiler and heater units.

The Puncture Protective Service features the safety puncture seal for auto tires.

Nickel-plated stovepipes are the newest thing in kitchens and they are displayed by the Vancouver Island Plating Co. Ltd.

Novelties in the way of vegetable and fruit paring and slicing gadgets are demonstrated by the Tasty Food Manufacturing Co. A strip photo studio is equipped to turn out finished photos within three minutes.

The Old English Beverage Co. Ltd. has its customary stand in the centre of the auditorium, displaying its Cal Ade and other thirst-quenching products.

Y.M.C.A. WORK

The Y.M.C.A.'s first aid station is in charge of Sgt. C. S. Crosby of the R.C.A.M.C., assisted by Bert Lilly. The booth is fully equipped as a first aid dressing station. Eight cases have already been handled this week, including one fracture.

The major activities of the Y.M.C.A. as well as the Glintz Lake summer camp are shown daily in the form of motion pictures. Radio broadcasts are given each evening over CFCT from a specially constructed sound-proofed, glass-enclosed room on the main floor. Duke McLeod is the announcer, with Cliff Deaville as chief technician and Eric Hanham at the controls.

Flowers Charm Fairgoers

Beautiful Blooms and Prize Vegetables to be Seen in Main Building

On entering the Main Building at the exhibition grounds, a brilliancy of natural floral beauty greets the eyes along with the fragrant smell of the many blossoms. Here are the products of the farm and garden.

The various nurseries have on display, selected flowers and shrubs set out in attractive arrays. Brown's Nurseries use dahlias and chrysanthemums exclusively, set against an arrangement of ferns, moss and palms. In the display, for the first time in Victoria, is a basket of the Southern Cross variety of dahlias, interesting to any flower growing enthusiast. The variety is two shades of crimson—large dark petals framing a cluster of lighter and more delicate petals. In addition, there are practically all types of dahlias on exhibit ranging from the small pom-pom varieties to immense blossomed types.

The Layritz Nurseries display both flowers and shrubs and vegetables. The flower exhibit is made up of roses set off with the dark green foliage of numerous shrubs. Varieties of potted plants are also shown. Large uniformly set out boxes of ripe fruit make up the rest of the exhibit.

NOVEL IDEA USED
A novel idea is used in the display of the Oaklands' Nurseries which has a model house set in a garden of flowers with shrubs and small trees ranging in height in the background. To complete the idea, there is a small pool in front of the house with goldfish swimming about in it.

Baldwin's Nurseries have a colorful display in the south-west corner of the building. The exhibit is footed with green shrubbery, gradually working up with many blossomed varieties, to a mass of Golden Glow flowers, which heads the display.

Also represented are Arrow-smith and Son of Bajan Bay, Saanichton, with varieties of gladioli. James (Canadian) Seeds Limited of Duncan, have become famous for their seeds and their products are shown in smart

CATTLE FROM CADBORO BAY PRAISED—Several high awards at the Victoria Fair yesterday went to cattle from the James Turner ranch at Cadboro Bay. Demonstration Of Industries

Industrial Building at Fair Appeals to Wide Variety of Interests

The home-maker, the house wife, the agriculturalist, the student and the average citizen find a wealth of interesting information and exhibits in the Industrial Building, of the Victoria Fair coming as it does special amenities for the window-shopper and for those who wish to dine lightly as well as see new departures in various fields.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture makes an attractive appeal to those interested in grain growing, fruit preserving, dairy produce and egg grading. In a lengthy display samples of grain are shown artistically before panels on which are printed concise legends on grasses and legumes for permanent pasture. Fine peaches in crates and samples of the preserved fruit occupy another section, while a third is devoted to a kaleidoscopic display advertising dairy products and a fourth shows egg grading methods.

Eddy's smart dresses, frocks and other women's wearing apparel form a neat stall which has proved of particular attraction to the modern miss.

Sepia and tinted portraits, head and full length, make up a striking display for Campbell Studios.

SOIL TILLER

The mechanized rotary soil tiller is shown in different styles by Rosoli Ltd. in an exhibit which also includes pictures of the machine ploughs in operation.

Bapco Paint Products again features the dapple art process, with samples of the work on walls and floor forming a background before which a demonstrator illustrates the method in which the finishes are done.

At a deep hairpin-shaped counter the Old English Beverage Company serves cooling drinks of a mild nature to the thirsty. Copan's quality chewing candy is sold in the adjoining stall, where huge blocks of the pink and white dainty have been a constant magnet for children's eyes.

B. T. Leigh is again showing the Peace Metal weather stripping on a miniature section of a house. Windows without the stripping show the draught that comes through the cracks where the stripping is not used, while the equipped windows appear airtight.

NEW HEATER

Neat Alladin Paraffin heating systems are displayed by the Gloucester Greenhouse, the attractive sets being pictures for their various uses along with the original models in an exhibit made bright with baskets of gladioli.

Horticultural produce raised by the sightless is shown with the usual basketwork and other handicraft samples in the exhibit of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

A new product, Fibrelock, a fire-resisting panel in attractive finish, is given a place of prominence in the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company Ltd. section. The material, in various shades, shares space with the concern's varnished Duroid mineral surfaced shingles.

Waterproofing and fire-proofing fluids are displayed by the Townsend Products in an attractive, bright green stall where a demonstrator illustrates the manner in which the bottled substances are applied.

Visitors to the building may have their photographs taken and finished while they wait in an adjoining booth.

The Provincial Department of Education has given elaborate attention to its handicraft work, engine practice, draughting and other technical studies in an outstanding display in the southeast corner of the building. Splendid examples of metal work, artistic wood work and pottery emphasize some of the features of the night school, unemployed and apprenticeship classes.

DISPLAY IN MINIATURE

New models of Singer Sewing Machines, with dresses, rugs and other articles made on them draw the attention of the feminine visitors, while of general interest is a Model Display Theatre, in which miniature exhibits are shown by the Foot Health Shop, interests supporting the Home Improvement Plan.

Neon Products, Northwestern Creameries, Robinson's Press, Shanks' Motorcycle Shop, The Gray Line, Standard Furniture Company, and Kendall's radio laboratory, among others.

Competent nurses explain the graphic display of the provincial T.B. Control service which gives prominence to Health Week posters and to goods made by the Kiwanis Occupational Crafts members. X-ray photographs of lungs and a big map of the contributed great displays of their varied agricultural wealth. The centre of the north wing displays the competitive classes of fruits and vegetables of all sorts.

province, showing various T.B. centres, have places in the exhibit.

Various models of rad and small, for living-room and car are shown in the section allocated to the Marconi Radio Corporation.

A chesterfield suite, rich bed covers, and comfortable looking mattresses, including one showing the spring work and padding, form the display of the Victoria Bed and Mattress Company.

WRITING ANALYST

In two small exhibits on either side of the main entrance are housed the Rex Razor Hone display and a booth in which the visitor may have his character analysed through his writing.

Between the two is the usual, striking display of the International Correspondence School, featuring art work and folders on scientific studies.

C. J. McDowell makes a joint appeal to the housewife and husband in his display of coal and wood, oil and electric ranges, furnace stokers for oil and coal and a shining Monel Metal hot water boiler as well as enamel sinks and other plumbing accessories.

McLennan McFeely and Prior Ltd., in probably the largest exhibit in the building, show a wide variety of household articles, from dinette and dining room suites, to Westinghouse washers and radios. The display includes rich furniture of all types, for the living-room and bedroom as well as kitchen appliances, electric ironers, a Frigidaire, novelty tables, and the Imperial Duo Therme oil burner for range and furnace.

Tempting shelves of freshly made Carmelcrisp, fresh roasted dainties and smoking material draws the eye to Morris Kersey's attractive stall.

NEW TILE SUBSTITUTE

The new Lincrusta interior finish for bathrooms, kitchens and restaurants displays an inexpensive glaze surfacing of artificial tile for interior use.

The public address system for the entire fairgrounds is housed in a specially constructed booth built by the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company for H. D. Mainwaring. In addition to the radio equipment are shown samples of Northern Electric appliances, including washing machines, electric ranges and an electric ventilator for air conditioning.

The special lighting advisory service of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company is given prominence in a special display in which features to be considered in proper illumination are emphasized and various types of lamps are shown.

At a counter running half the width of the building the Registered Jersey Dairies cater to the wants of those who wish milk and ice cream confections.

Brandreth Nurseries finds an attractive publicity medium in a miniature greenhouse containing ferns and in cut flowers of delicate hues.

In another section the Maytag and Easy washing machines are shown in operation, their bright exteriors providing a nice note of color in the exhibit.

Golden jars of Vancouver Island honey make up the interesting display of the Victoria Curtis Apiaries, Cowichan Lake.

GASOLINE WASHER

Favorite sweepers, ironing machines, the new stainless steel washers and a gas-driven washing machine show a new high in labor-saving devices for the housewife in the Beauty exhibit.

Tasty Mayfair doughnuts are made fresh in the stall of George Butler to serve to patrons at his coffee counter.

Throughout the building are special booths where raffish are being conducted for charitable and social agencies in the city.

Business Women Install New Officers

Miss Spencer Elliott Guest Speaker At Dinner Gathering

"Experience is the only thing which can teach authorship, coupled with a study of the great authors of other days. . . . It isn't so much what and how one writes that matters, as that one should be sincere and be able to write as one sees, fearlessly," Miss Jean Elliott, daughter of the Dean of Columbia, told the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club in a delightfully refreshing and witty address last night.

The occasion was the annual installation banquet held in Spencer's dining room, when special guests included the presidents of the Soroptimist, Rotary, Kiwanis, Gyro, Revellers and Kinsmen Clubs.

EARLY VENTURE

Miss Elliott's subject was "Authors and Authorship" and she amusingly recalled her first venture, into the literary world through the medium of the children's corner in her father's parish magazine at the age of 10. After a brief analysis of the characteristics of G. K. Chesterton, Rudyard Kipling, whose writing had been described as "the literary aspect of the British Empire," Sir James Barrie, George Bernard Shaw, T. S. Eliot and Hugh Walpole, Miss Elliott observed that authorship today had a greater tendency towards realism than in the Victorian era.

The output of books was increasing tremendously. Never before had so many books been published each year, and it was estimated that in England alone 40 new books are published each day. Miss Elliott noted, Mrs. Madge Hall thanked the speaker for her entertaining address.

A candle-lighting ceremony marked the installation by Mrs. H. P. Hodges of the following new officers and executive: Past president, Mrs. A. R. Longley; president, Mrs. James A. Bland; first vice-president, Miss Macrae; second vice-president, Miss Jessie Crowther; treasurer, Miss Edith Parsell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. Hall; recording secretary, Mrs. Claire Lord.

The directors are Miss Conacher, Mrs. Rae Case, Miss Lilian Parfitt, Miss Marianne Dobbin and Miss Nora Boyce. Mrs. K. Farquharson spoke in appreciative terms of the work of the retiring executive, and Mrs. Longley, the retiring president, supplemented it with a special word of thanks to those who had supported her during her 18 months in office. A telegram of greeting to the new executive was read from Miss Margaret Clay.

Mrs. Marjorie Watson Goodwin delighted the gathering with her singing of "My Heart is a Silent Violin" and "Hindoo Slumber Song," her accompaniments being played by Miss Eileen Bowles. Both solos were much enjoyed and on behalf of the club Miss Marianne Dobbin thanked the artists.

SCHOLARSHIP PRESENTED

The second Bay Wigley Memorial scholarship was presented by Miss Mabel Cameron, on behalf of the club, to Miss Marjorie White of the Victoria High School, to assist her in continuing her studies towards a business career. Miss Glennys Hale, winner of last year's scholarship, was a special guest, as was also Mr. Robert Heywood, commercial teacher at the High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rankin, 2560 Graham Street, who celebrated their silver wedding yesterday, and last evening were hosts at a supper party. They were married in the Salvation Army Citadel in Brandon, Manitoba, 25 years ago, and came to Victoria in 1928. They have three sons: John, Thomas and David; and two daughters, the Misses Mary and Ruth Rankin. They also have one granddaughter, the child of Mr. and Mrs. John Rankin. The house was attractively decorated with beautiful flowers, and an ornate wedding cake held the place of honor on the supper table.

Ross of Vancouver. Mrs. E. Crow-Baker, sister of the late Mrs. Ross, has also returned to her home, "Sissinghurst," Gorge Road, from the mainland city.

Miss Finch of Elton, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, who has been spending the summer months with Major and Mrs. M. W. Turner, Esquimalt Road, left on Sunday to visit in California before proceeding to New York and Montreal, from where she will sail at the end of September for her home in Great Britain. Miss Finch was accompanied to Seattle by Mrs. Turner, who returned home yesterday evening.

Mrs. Ronald E. Page (nee Edna Howcroft) entertained a few of her former school friends at the tea hour recently at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. Howcroft, Burnside Road. She was assisted by her sister, Mrs. A. B. Faulkner, and the other guests included Mrs. E. Howcroft and the Misses Muriel Ash, Maude Cooper, Ethel Ramsay and Elsie Wilson. The tea table was centred with a pretty arrangement of calendulas, blue larkspur and campanula.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loewen have received word from their son, Major Charles Falkland Loewen, R.A., that he has been appointed instructor of the staff college at Camberley, England. Major Loewen, with his family, will arrive in England in November. At present he is stationed at Bareilly, United Provinces, India. Mrs. Loewen is the daughter of Brig.-Gen. J. M. Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O. (retired), formerly of Victoria.

Miss E. Scholfield Retires From Travelers' Aid

After nearly 20 years of enthusiastic and faithful service as Travelers' Aid secretary to the Y.W.C.A., during which she met every arriving and departing train and boat to give assistance and advice when needed by young girls traveling alone, Miss Edith Scholfield has retired from that post, and a familiar figure will be missed by the traveling public.

At the recent board meeting of the "Y," Miss Isabel Russell, who has been appointed in her stead as Travelers' Aid and Social Service secretary, was introduced to the members of the board.

BUSY SUMMER

Reports showed that the summer had been a particularly busy time at the "Y," with many visitors not only from all over Canada and the United States, but also from England, New Zealand, and other parts of the world. Mrs. Brand, convener of the residence committee, reported a full house all summer, and that the "dormitories" had been particularly popular, especially for groups of younger girls traveling together.

Mrs. W. H. Whiteley, in giving the report of the Annex, mentioned the tea held in the early summer, and the Annex had also proved a popular home for visitors during the holidays. Summer is always a particularly busy time for the Travelers' Aid secretary, and Mrs. John Baxter read the report of Miss Scholfield's services to travelers from near and far.

In the absence of the girls' work secretary, Miss Kirkwood reported on the variety of summer activities for girls who did not go to camp. A full program of "bike-hikes," "go and see trips," beach parties, wieners and corn roasts, and other still stranger outings, such as a "wild goose chase," "breezy bacon bat," and many other jolly excursions were organized, planned and carried through by the girls themselves. Perhaps best enjoyed of all were two trips on Captain Beaumont's yacht.

All departments are now busily organizing for the autumn season and the first big event will take place on Thursday evening, September 29, when the annual "Open House" evening will be held, when the girls and young women of Victoria may visit and inspect the building and learn just what will be going on this winter in the way of clubs, classes, interest groups, etc.

REGISTRATION HIGH

Miss Kirkwood also announced that the registrations for the four vocational classes, organized jointly by the Dominion provincial Youth Training Scheme and the Y.W.C.A., had exceeded all expectations, and to date there were 175 girls interested in dressmaking, shorthand and typing, salesmanship or household training. So popular had the salesmanship classes proved that four classes a week are being held instead of the usual two, and registrations are being taken for after Christmas in some of the courses.

Reference was made to the Y.W.C.A. World's Council, now meeting at Elgin House, Muskoka, with representatives from 35 countries of the world in attendance. Dr. Olga Jardine is Victoria's representative. The World's Council meeting and Eastern Regional Conference are to be followed by the Western Regional Conference, to be held in Spokane in October. It is hoped that several board and committee members will attend this conference, and the girls members of the "Y" are already enthusiastic and making plans to send their quota of delegates. Miss Kirkwood is taking part in the conference program.

The Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., realized the sum of $32 from the garden party held at the home of Mrs. R. Shanks during the summer. It was reported at the monthly meeting of the chapter held last night at headquarters, with T. A. Johnston, the regent, presiding. One hundred calendars were ordered. It was announced that Mrs. J. L. Ford, Mrs. M. A. Kent and Mrs. T. A. Johnston would hold an afternoon bridge and tea party at the home of Mrs. Kent, Douglas Street, on September 23, in aid of the talent fund of the chapter. Two boys were sent to the Rainbow Sea Cadet Camp during the summer. Mrs. Johnston reported that men from H.M.S. York who took part in the two concerts, held in August in the Shrine Auditorium, were entertained after the program each night. Mrs. Trenholme-Dickson was accepted as a new member.

Homely Arts and Crafts At Fair Notably Good

Women's Section of High Standard This Year; Petit-point Panel Outstanding Piece of Work; Spinning and Weaving Entry Larger

With the healthy revival of the homely arts and cottage industries, such as weaving and spinning, the Women's Building at the Victoria Fair at the Willows is of particular interest this week.

Although the entries in the sections devoted to women's work are larger than ever, it is notable that the rural women are greater supporters of the undertaking, the entries from Victoria itself being in the minority. But the general standard of excellence is higher than for many years, and the arrangement of the exhibits is considerably improved.

PETIT-POINT PANEL

Perhaps the most striking and artistic exhibit in the building is the large petit-point panel, made by Mrs. G. P. Napier and shown in the W.I. Weavers' Guild collection, of which organization she is a member. The panel represents a medieval scene, depicting a wild boar hunt in the time of Queen Anne.

It measures about 4 feet by 6 feet, and required 750,000 stitches. The panel has the characteristic lack of perspective which belongs to the period, the boars in the distant hills being larger than the horses ridden by the hunters in the foreground. Fruit and blossoms are shown together on the same tree, another characteristic of paintings of that day.

In the arts and crafts section, another outstanding exhibit is the collection of metalcraft made by Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson. Of original design is a bird-bath of fluted lead, with a lotus-blossom near the up-turned stem; another original piece is the large oak leaf of silvered, hammered pewter to be used as a centre piece for fruit, and also in the collection of her work is a service plate of electro-plated hammered copper, with a graceful leaf design border, a small copper bowl with beaded edge and ball feet, and a gravy bowl of silvered hammered copper with ebony handle.

In this section is a novel tray of glass, beneath which is cleverly posed grasses and heaths, with a tiny bird of real feathers and two beautiful butterflies, the work of Mrs. R. Harvey. Cellophane is much used in a variety of ways, in this section, while deft fingers have used all kinds of materials to fashion novelties.

The W.I. Weavers' Guild is showing a much larger collection than ever before of the work of its members. Exquisite weaving of beautiful color and original designs, hooked and woven rugs, scarfs, bags, cushions, wall hangings, dress materials and other articles finding a place in the collection. Spinners and weavers are also giving demonstrations daily.

The great strides made in spinning and weaving on the island is also evidenced in the B.C. wool exhibit, which is larger and of higher standard than ever before. Made of wool from B.C. sheep, spun and woven and dyed with home-made dyes, are lovely scarf and bag sets, tweeds by the yard, sweaters, socks and stockings, and other attractive articles.

The Horham Crafts, established by Mrs. Doris Horton and Mrs. Maude Hammond, are devoted chiefly to spinning and weaving, while Mrs. Margaret McClung is showing unusually attractive leather goods, including gloves, purses, belts and similar wares. The Pioneer Handicrafts, Mrs. Simmonds, also has an interesting exhibit of spinning and weaving.

The schoolgirls of 11 years and over, 14 years and over, and from 14 to 17 years, have also entered some splendid samples of needlework, cooking and preserving, proving that, despite the critics of modern youth, these girls are destined to make efficient and capable housewives.

The domestic science section is larger than ever, and is attractively displayed to advantage at one end of the large hall. Delectable cakes, bread, cookies, and jars of jams, jellies, preserves, including fruit, vegetables, meats and fish, show that these homely arts are still in the ascendancy, and that Victoria may be proud of her cooks.

Tourist Accommodation, Street Noises and Forest Fires Discussed

Appalled at the damage and devastation by fire that had taken place during the summer in British Columbia forests, Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie, convener of the standing committee of parks and playgrounds for the Local Council of Women, made an appeal to the women at its meeting yesterday afternoon to take a greater interest in the regulations for the protection of forests and to help acquaint the public with the dire consequences of carelessness on the part of smokers, campers and tourists, a condition that accounts for 50 per cent of fires.

Resolutions submitted to the International Council of Women at the 45th annual meeting last year dealing with peace, disarmament and social legislation were read by Mrs. A. E. Hopkins and Mrs. Bertha Parsons.

TOURIST ACCOMMODATION

Mrs. Madge Hall brought to the attention of the council the need for some supervision of advertised tourist accommodation and cited several cases where visitors had been imposed upon by those from whom they had rented rooms. She was asked by the council to formulate some plan for such supervision.

NOISE NUISANCE

It was also suggested that Mrs. Hall include in her report some plan to be submitted to the City Council to stop the noise nuisance in the city, such as the unnecessary tooting of horns by motorists. In wedding processions. Two instances were cited, of visitors from New York having to move to country hotels from city ones to obtain respite from the noise.

Mrs. W. J. Holmes gave a report of the meeting at which Sir Henry Page Croft spoke on the proposed British immigration settlement scheme.

A resolution of sympathy was passed at the meeting to Mrs. J. D. Gordon on the death of her son, Professor Eric Gordon, in England.

Mrs. William Grant brought to the attention of the meeting the case of a British woman who had been residing in the Orient and who had been denied permission to land in Victoria and asked that the council investigate conditions under which women travel.

Mrs. William McManus, convener of the standing committee on printed matter, reported on the distribution of magazines in Victoria and the council will ask permission for one of the local agents to speak on the subject at some future meeting.

Mrs. J. W. Gibson, vice-president, presided in the absence of Dr. Olga Jardine, the president, who is attending the World Council of the Y.W.C.A. at Muskoka. Mrs. Gibson gave a report on the executive meeting of the Local Council of Women held in June in connection with the visit of the unemployed and stated that the meeting had supported the resolution of the Ministerial Association.

Dr. Trapp of Vancouver will address the Local Council on the subject of cancer control at a meeting to be held in October, the date of which will be announced later.

The Jubilee Alumnae held its quarterly meeting at the Nurses' Home last evening. A handkerchief shower in connection with the annual bazaar on October 19 was voted towards the upkeep of the alumnae ward in the hospital. There was a good attendance, and at the close refreshments were served.

Mrs. C. D. Blackstock of Vancouver is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart Yates, Langford. Miss Ruby Waugh of Vancouver is also the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Yates.

NOT ENOUGH WORK, COUNCILLOR SAYS

R. G. Humphreys Starts Debate in Esquimalt Council; "Pass Buck" to Reeve

"I don't think the council does enough—I think we should have a little more work to do," Councillor R. G. Humphreys told the Esquimalt Council last night, and drew strong objections from two of his fellow councillors.

He told the council he had proposed to present a motion for the abolition of the police commission and the transfer of its duties to a committee of the council, but had discovered the matter was one which would have to be dealt with by order-in-council.

Reeve Alexander Lockley said the question had often been considered by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, but no action had been taken and the provincial government would not make such a change without support by the union. He explained the set-up was different in Victoria, which had a council commission, because the city operated under a civic charter open to amendment.

When Councillor Humphreys repeated that councillors had not enough work to do, Councillor Neil Fraser interjected that he personally found municipal matters kept all his spare time occupied, and that he had been forced to turn down jobs to attend council meetings. He said Councillor Humphreys had missed one meeting in his six months on the council and himself none in two years.

"Personally, then, I'd like more to do. Does that suit you?" Councillor Humphreys asked Councillor Fraser.

"That suits me better," said Councillor Fraser.

Councillor Humphreys went on to say the council had a habit of "passing the buck" to the Reeve on work outside council hours.

Councillor Albert Heald interjected that unless he were speaking of specific cases the remark was uncalled for.

DENISON GIVEN COLLEGE ROOM

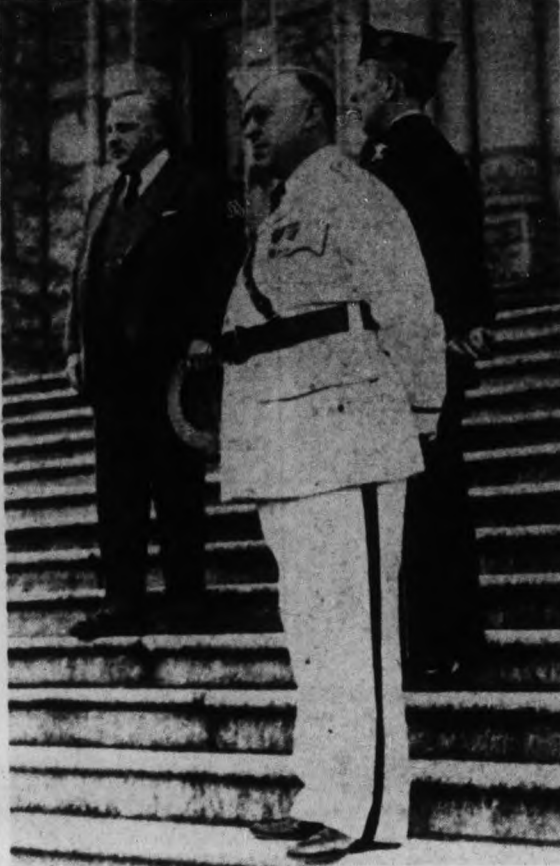

Retired Meteorological Head to Continue Research at Craigdarroch

Special quarters at Victoria College will be allocated to F. Napier Denison, retired head of the Gonzales Hill Observatory, to assist him in continuing his meteorological research work, as the result of action taken by the City School Board last night.

The move, which will give Mr. Denison a room in the college building and see the erection of equipment on parts of the grounds not used for any specific purpose, was taken on the recommendation of P. H. Elliott, principal of the college.

The principal stated any publications by Mr. Denison would go out bearing the name of Victoria College and would consequently bring widespread publicity to the institution. The equipment, he added, would become the property of the college when it ceased to be of use to Mr. Denison.

The position taken by Mr. Elliott was supported by George H. Deane, municipal inspector.

HOPE GOOD-FELLOWSHIP WILL CONTINUE — A simple ceremony emphasizing the friendly relations existing between Canada and the United States took place at the cenotaph at the Parliament Building grounds yesterday, while in another part of town crowds flocked around the bulletin boards—reading of the uneasiness existing among neighboring European countries. In the above picture, Premier T. D. Pattullo is shown with C. J. Hughes, in white, and James P. Ringley.

The ceremony was performed by the Commonwealth Edison Post No. 118, drum and bugle corps of the Canadian Legion, from Chicago, which paid a four-hour visit to the city to parade and salute the veterans of Canada.

En route to Los Angeles to attend the 20th annual convention of the American Legion, the visiting unit, attired in smart, white uniforms trimmed with black and wearing Sam Brown belts and black leggings, put on a fine show that attracted a large crowd of admiring Victorians.

The party numbered close to 150—many being attired in civilian clothes. On their arrival on the boat from Seattle at 1, the visitors assembled on the Parliament Buildings driveway and to the tune of the United States National Anthem, marched to the front of the buildings' steps, where they were welcomed by Premier T. D. Pattullo. Mr. Pattullo extended the party a warm greeting from the Province of British Columbia and expressed the hope that the good-fellowship between the two countries would continue. James P. Ringley, past commander of the American Legion of the State of Illinois, responded. He said that the bonds of friendship between Canada and the United States were molded more firmly by such associations as these.

Led by E. V. Stevens, past commander of the Commonwealth Edison Post, Mr. Ringley, Norman Foster, of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and C. A. Gill, secretary of the Victoria and District Zone of the Canadian Legion, and followed by the color bearers, the procession then moved on to the Cenotaph where a wreath was placed by the Commonwealth Edison Post as a tribute to the fallen war heroes of Canada. "The Last Post" was sounded at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Acting Mayor James Adam was introduced at this point and extended a hearty welcome to the visitors on behalf of the citizens of Victoria. He said he hoped their short stay in the city would be a pleasant one.

The procession continued up Government Street to Yates Street and up Yates to Blanshard and along Blanshard to the front of the Y.W.C.A. where the uniformed members of the party went through a series of smart marching manoeuvres that were keenly appreciated by the large gallery.

The group left on the Seattle boat at 5.

Defence League Meeting Held

The first meeting of the season of the Victoria Division No. 1, Defence of Canada League, was held last evening in the A.O.F. Hall, with Captain Neville E. Fairweather, president, in the chair.

Several acknowledgements from provincial and Dominion Government officials, with respect to league representations regarding defence measures and immigration matters, were presented. Members were pleased to note that a number of suggestions received favorable consideration.

A special committee was appointed to arrange for an open

Want School Walk Covered

Protection for Children Sought; Other Improvements Suggested

Following a warning by Trustee W. P. Marchant, chairman of the finance committee, that all future expenditures should be watched most carefully since some were approaching the total annual votes, the City School Board last night laid plans for the construction of a covered walk between the two Junior High Schools and made arrangements for other building and grounds projects.

The board approved the recommendation of the building and grounds committee, under Trustee Walter Staneland, to re-floor a room in the Senior High School for girls' physical education work at a cost of $250.

The trustees heard the building and grounds chairman advocate the covered walk on the grounds it was needed to protect children during inclement weather. The school doctor had strongly advocated the protection, Trustee Staneland said. He suggested tenders be called for the work and the lowest accepted. Trustee Marchant raised question over the amount allocated for the work in the estimates, and won support for his argument the tenders should be received before any definite commitment was made.

"I feel it is an absolutely necessary provision which must be made," George H. Deane, municipal inspector, stated in support of the covered walk proposal.

The grounds committee recommendation calling for the leveling of the proposed playing field on Brooke Street at a cost not to exceed $100 was carried, as was one calling for re-flooring of the school board office at a cost of $231. The latter work will be done by the Drysdale firm.

TO IMPROVE LIGHTING

Tenders will be called for lighting fixtures at the Girls' Junior High School and consideration will be given North Ward's requirements along those lines.

The board received and noted a letter from E. E. Bragg protesting against the employment of non-property owners on school work and referred to its special committee a request from C. L. Ross for permission to send three children to Victoria High School who lived beyond the school boundary. A. D. Ford's request for action to prevent flooding of his basement, which he claimed was due to a faulty school drain, was received and referred to the grounds committee.

The educational committee was asked to deal with a request from the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association for the use of one of the Central School rooms for a special course of lectures to be held on Thursday nights.

An offer of the Seventh Day Adventists of $20 for old double-desks and discarded school maps was accepted.

Oak Bay's reply to the city's letter advocating a Greater Victoria School Board and stating the Victoria proposal had been received and filed, was given similar treatment by the city group.

Coupled with the statement of expenditure and revenue submitted by the finance committee was a supplementary report calling on all janitors to check janitorial supplies as they were delivered to the schools and to report on any shortages or violations of specifications.

The committee also reported on applications from outside residents for permission to send students to Victoria High School and authorized action by the finance committee to have 12 typewriters put into good repair.

Edmonton Sees Finances Improve

EDMONTON (CP)—Betterment of more than $704,000 in Edmonton's liquid position in the 17-month period ended June 30 this year, mainly attributable to the operations of the Fortin refunding scheme, was reported yesterday by City Commissioner John Hodgson.

Reduction of $284,000 in the city's floating debt during the first six months of 1938 was shown in an auditors' report by Henderson and Kinnaird, chartered accountants, considered by the council, at a meeting last night.

To that figure, Mr. Hodgson said, could be added $420,000 as the recorded betterment during the previous 11 months, since the refinancing scheme went into effect February 1, 1937.

Adanacs Win Two Straight

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

GABBY STREET calls the New York Yankees of today the greatest ball team he ever saw. That only makes it official, or something, but Street has been around a long time and has piloted champions. The current manager of the St. Louis Cardinals led the St. Louis Cardinals to pennants in 1930 and 1931 and beat the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series in latter fall. Street also gives a reason for the Yankee success that most other observers overlook completely. His name is Jose McCarthy.

"The Yankees are outstanding because they are a combination of outstanding performers," says Street. "They have remarkable hitters and pitchers. And I consider Joe McCarthy an outstanding manager."

"The Yankees never worry about a contending team. They concentrate on the business at hand. And concentration is highly important in baseball. They overpower the opposition... challenge any contender to their stride. They make no mistakes in playing the game."

"McCarthy is an expert handler of men. In my opinion, he is one of the greatest managers in history. He deserves much of the credit for the team's success."

"Powerful clubs do not always win. Years ago Philadelphia had a team a great hitters, fellows like Flick and Larry Lajoie, but it didn't win."

McCarthy employs common sense. There seldom is a flaw in his strategy.

"McCarthy must have had something to do with making the Yankee pitching staff so formidable."

One only has to check McCarthy's record as a manager to realize his worth. He enjoyed tremendous success in the minors and handled bad National League clubs mightily well before being handed the Yankees on a silver platter. The Yanks got off badly this spring and staggered for quite a while. It looked like a year to beat them, but McCarthy straightened them out.

McCarthy doesn't mix with his players. He handles everyone differently, tames down the temperamental ones and keeps so-called bad actors in line. Witness the job he did with old Blubber Malone. And where Joe McCarthy can't handle them, he ships them pronto. That's been his big secret. He has always been the boss.

Bill Terry's pitching was in such bad shape that the New York Giants were forced to open the important Pittsburgh series with Dick Coffman, who had not started in two campaigns.

Hal Schumacher pitched and won for the Polo Grounders despite bone splinters in his right elbow.

Terry admits that Schumacher worked with the full knowledge that he might be jeopardizing his future.

"But if the race remains an open issue, I can at least salvage the gate and fulfill some of my obligations to my employers," asserts the Giants' manager. "The team has made money this year and dividends might be increased still further by a good home stand the last month, with the Giants fighting right down to the wire. Schumacher has shown the boys what it means to fight. Now let's see them follow his example."

Terry, always the business man, can be depended upon to salvage as much of the gate as possible.

Defeat Salmonbellies 14 to 10 in Second Game of Boxla Final

VANCOUVER (CP)—A youthful New Westminster Adanac boxlacrosse squad was another step closer to the Intercity League championship today with two victories over their fellow-townsmen, Salmonbellies, who last year captured the Dominion title.

Adanacs won the second game of the best-of-five series 14 to 10 here last night, driving in four counters in the last frame while they held Salmonbellies scoreless. They took the first game 16 to 11 in New Westminster Friday night.

The Mann Cup holders showed plenty of fight, however, and matched their younger rivals during the first three-quarters of last night's game.

Ralph Burton, one of the younger members of the Fishermen's squad, started the scoring two minutes after the face-off when he made good a pass from Ed Downey. Less than three minutes later Bob Lee evened the score with an unassisted tally. Neither team netted again in the frame and they went into the second period with one counter each.

FISHERMEN LEAD

Salmonbellies' chief bid was in the second 15 minutes. They played an open, passing game and scored six times to Adanacs' five, ending the frame with a 7 to 6 lead.

Harry Campbell put Salmonbellies another point in the lead as play resumed but goals by Bob Lee and Bob Phelan again tied the score at eight each. Another by Phelan brought Adanacs into the lead at 9 to 8.

The advantage changed sides again with Moussey and Alfie Davey each finding the net but Ran Mathison made it 10-all before the end of the period.

During the rest of the game Adanacs' speed and stamina showed to advantage and they clamped down on their rivals, giving them no chance to get organized.

Jim Douglas counted his third goal of the game in the last frame to lead his team in scoring while "Punk" Kennedy, G. Carter and Ken Matheson got past Pete Anthony in Salmonbellies' goal for one point each.

The next game of the series will be played in New Westminster Friday night.

WRESTLING

Portland, Me.—Paddy Mack, 174, Philadelphia, defeated Pete Janco, 183, New York, two straight falls.

Greenberg Moves on

Crashes 50th Home Run of Season to Remain Only 10 Behind Babe Ruth's All-time Baseball Record

It's the only race left in the American League, since the New York Yankees are only seven games away from clinching the pennant, but the test of Hank Greenberg of 1938 against Babe Ruth of 1927 is just about as close as the National League pennant chase.

Hank hit his 50th home run of the season yesterday to help Detroit's out-of-the-runnings Tigers whip Chicago White Sox, 4 to 3, in the only game on the major league schedule. He has to hit 11 more in 20 games to beat Ruth's all-time record of 60, made in 1927.

Hank's homer yesterday broke a 2 to 2 tie in a neat mound duel between Al Benton and Jack Knott. A couple of innings later he scored the winning run on Rudy York's double. The Tiger first sacker has connected for four circuit swats in the last four games.

Starting a final east-west series, the National League race continues as the "hot" news in the major leagues. The Pittsburgh Pirates have a chance in the next few days to dispose finally of what threat New York Giants still can make. Victors in 12 out of 19 encounters, the Bucs play three games against the fourth-place Giants, who now are 5½ games behind.

The Los Angeles Angels and Seattle Sods shoot the works this week over a little matter of $2,500, the payoff prize for the team winding up the Coast League baseball schedule on top. The last week of scheduled play opens today.

Field in U.S. Amateur Championship Plays Through Cloud-burst and Electrical Storm; Somerville Has 79

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) His steel-rimmed spectacles foggy and his nostrils palpitating with a hay fever filter, Maurice J. McCarthy Jr., of Cincinnati, O., slipped in between storms yesterday with a methodically manufactured par 72 to pace a field of 162 through the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round of the 42nd United States amateur golf championship.

The 31-year-old Irishman who beat George von Elm in a great 10-hole extra match in 1930, had a cloudburst to thank for his one stroke-edge.

Art Doering, Stanford student from Chicago, low amateur in the 1938 United States open, saw his chances washed out on the last few holes after he had burned up the soaking wet course with a three-under par performance through the first 13. He finished with a 73, going one over even figures on four of the last five, which he played through a roaring rain and electrical storm.

After the last two weeks checked in U.S.G.A. officials decided to slash the entry list for today's play. All those with scores of 85 or more in the first round were eliminated, leaving 124 starters for today.

CHICK EVANS OUT

Most prominent of the "top-off" casualties were Chick Evans, Ellsworth Vines, and Dan Yates, brother of British champion Charley.

G. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., several times Canadian amateur champion and United States winner in 1932 was safe with a 79. Joe Thompson of Hamilton, Ont., scored 77 while the only other Canadian in the tourney, Merlin Luther of Fort Erie, Ont., fired 42-41-83.

Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, native of Calgary and now a sports promoter in London, Eng., shot an 81. Critchley is the current Belgian and Dutch open champion.

Charley Yates of Atlanta, Ga., the British amateur king, started firing at the peak of the storm and came in with a remarkable 74. He joined such select company as T. S. Tailor of Westbury, N.Y.; Harry Givan of Seattle, Wash.; Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn.; Eddie Held of Edgewater, Colo.; Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Tex., and Frank Stiedle of Memphis.

Including Somerville, four of the starting six ex-champions appeared safe. Goodman and Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, the 1936 winner, had 76's while the veteran Jesse Sweetser of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., grabbed an 80.

Roughriders Whip Bombers

Regina Grid Machine in Smashing 7 to 0 Win Over Winnipeg

WINNIPEG — The greatest Roughrider machine in Regina's football history remains undefeated and unscored upon in this Western Interprovincial Union season.

Undaunted by the loss through injury of their all-star snapper and coach, Dean Griffing, Riders broke down Winnipeg Blue Bombers' defenses with a battering fourth-quarter attack last night to hand Bombers their first defeat this year, a 7 to 0 reverse under floodlights before a record crowd of 6,300 jamming Osborne Stadium.

After three scoreless quarters, Riders gradually edged Bombers back into their own territory and Howard Cleveland kicked to the deadline for the first point.

Then, with less than three minutes to play, Bombers took to the air in desperation. Two short forward passes were completed, but on a third attempt Leo Danaher, Regina halfback, intercepted a toss from Russ Rehholz on the Bomber 40-yard line. Danaher crashed through several tacklers by sheer power, then sprinted for a touchdown. Bert Nelson converted from placements just at the final gun.

Dominoes Are Granted Gym

Secure High School Three Nights a Week; Report on Other Requests

That annual scramble for the use of Victoria High School gym on preferred winter nights appeared just about a cinch for the Dominoes today, with the Victoria and District Basketball Association enjoying an edge over the Provincial Recreations in a bid for evenings other than Tuesday, Friday and Saturday.

At the City School Board meeting last night Trustee W. P. Marchant held out for a more definite acceptance by specific parties of personal liability for any damage that might be done to the gym on Dominoes nights. He suggested one at least of the club leaders be made directly responsible instead of leaving the potential bag-holding to the rather indefinite personality of the Dominoes Club.

The former champions will pay $2.50 a night for practices on Tuesdays and Fridays from 7 to 9, and will ante up an even $17.50 for Saturdays. Of the latter $2.50 will go to the janitor.

As the result of a motion by Trustee Walter Staneland, the board toyed with the possibility of relegating the Provincial Recreations to the Central Junior High gym, in order to leave the major "maple court" open for league and other activity. The question, together with the nebulous suggestion that efforts be made to bring the two basketball outfits together, was referred to the building and grounds committee. George H. Deane, municipal inspector, promised to give immediate attention to the scheme to give the Provincial Recreations the league's request for the use of the gym. The letter from that organization had been received after the application of the Dominoes for the three specific nights, the secretary stated.

FAVOR DOMINOES

With the trend of feeling favoring the three-night bid for the Dominoes and the possibility of the Provincial Recreations monopolizing another two, it was pointed out the league was left with only one week left.

"I think you should deal with the league. You can't make fish of one and fowl of another," Chairman Percy George declared following a move to table the league's letter.

Trustee Staneland voiced the belief that Junior High gym would accommodate 100 of the provincial class. They might limit their enrolment to the accommodation, he said.

At the close of the debate the Dominoes request was treated as a settled issue, subject to the club's acceptance of the board's terms. The other two requests, from the league and the Provincial Recreations, were referred to the building and grounds committee for a report.

"Longshot" Haller Scores Another

Wins With My Mint at Willows, Paying 34 to 1

Jockey Andy Haller bids fair to get the nickname "Longshot" tacked on to him if he keeps up the pace he has set in the first two days of the Willows race meeting.

After piloting Adelaide N home at 26 to one on Saturday he staged another gilt-edged ride on an outsider yesterday, putting My Mint home in front for L. L. Serrano. The pay-off was $70.65 straight. Judging the pace beautifully Haller drove him through a knothole opening on the clubhouse turn, went to the front on the back stretch and coasted down with a comfortable margin over the highly-favored Nugent.

The public favorites won their share of the purses, taking the large end in three heats, but were swamped in the other events. The Pagan was backed down to odds-on for the final race, but could do no better than fourth.

Ethel Star and Grice combined for a daily double that returned $85.55. Madam Lucy and La Numba posted $70.05 for the quintella in the fifth, and Maggie O'Boyle and Madam Chene returned $42.50 in the seventh.

Riding honours were well split, with no rider able to score more. Jockey J. R. Kelly was set down for the balance of the meeting for insubordination after he was suspended for crowding with Wensleydale in the sixth.

The track was visited during the afternoon by Jockey Ralph Neves of Seattle. Neves is the jockey who piloted Triplane, the winner of the $10,000 Longacres mile on Sunday. He is the leading rider at Longacres and one of the best on the continent.

Sam Randall, manager of the racing association, reports that Willows is following the lead of Hastings Park this year with an increase in the wagering. The handle on Saturday was $5,000 up over last year.

McLellan is expected to pitch for Camerons tonight in the third and deciding game of the city championship series against Colwood Wood at the Athletic Park, starting at 6. Last night's Calvert Cup final between Camerons and the Longshoremen was called in the fourth inning on account of darkness. It is hoped to have the clubs meet on Sunday afternoon at Hampton Road.

Miss Jacobs And Riggs Beaten

Margot Lumb and Gil Hunt Pull Surprise Wins; No Play Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Two major upsets held the spotlight in the United States singles tennis championships yesterday. At the conclusion of the day's play Helen Hull Jacobs, four-time women's champion, and Bobby Riggs, seeded second to Donald Budge, had been pushed to the sidelines. Play today was halted by soggy courts as the result of heavy overnight rain.

Miss Jacobs was eliminated by Margot Lumb, English schoolpaw, 7-5, 6-2, and Riggs was put out by Gil Hunt, Washington, D.C., after five bitter sets, 6-2, 0-6, 9-7, 0-6, 6-4. Riggs was on the victorious American Davis Cup squad and Miss Jacobs was seeded number one.

Both thus reached the quarter finals, the English girl in company with Nancy Wynne of Australia, her next rival, Dorothy May Bundy of California and Mme. Rene Mathieu of France; Hunt with Gene Mako, Budge's doubles partner and his round-of-eight opponent, Joe Hunt of Los Angeles and John Bromwich of Australia.

Hunt was a gambler with aces up his sleeve and with an instinct for playing them at the right time. That he would win the first set, service breaks in the third and seventh games, was no surprise. Riggs had gone four sets in his first two matches and five in his third.

PARKER BEATEN

In the opening match of the day, Gene Mako turned back Frank Parker, Yugoslavian cup ace, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7. Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, No. 3 United States seed, beat Yvon Petra, France, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7; Bromwich, No. 1 foreign seed, eased his way past Frankie Parker, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, and Miss Wynne turned back Helen Pedersen, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Mme. Mathieu, second-ranking of the foreign women, beat Gracy Wheeler, 6-4, 6-1, and Miss Bundy turned back Mrs. Harry Hopman, wife of Australia's Davis Cup captain, by the same scores to gain their brackets.

Results follow:

Women's singles (third round): Mme. Rene Mathieu, France, defeated Gracy Wheeler, Santa Monica, Cal., 6-4, 6-1.

Dorothy May Bundy, Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Mrs. Harry C. Hopman, Australia, 6-4, 6-1.

Nancy Wynne, Australia, defeated Helen Pedersen, Stamford, Conn., 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Margot Lumb, England, defeated Helen Hull Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., 7-5, 6-2.

Men's singles (fourth round): C. Gene Mako, Los Angeles, defeated Franjo Punec, Yugoslavia, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7.

Joseph R. Hunt, Los Angeles, defeated Yvon Petra, France, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7.

Gilbert A. Hunt Jr., Washington, D.C., defeated Robert L. Riggs, Chicago, 6-2, 0-6, 9-7, 0-6, 6-4.

John Bromwich, Australia, defeated Frank Parker, Beverly Hills, Cal., 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Stories of Switzerland

II—AVALANCHES

Switzerland contains more square miles than Holland, but has only half as many people. The difference is due mainly to one thing—Holland has lowlands and Switzerland has highlands. Lowlands with rich soil can supply food for more people than highlands.

It would be a mistake, however, to think of Switzerland as just a mass of mountains. The country contains tall and beautiful mountains, but there are rich valleys and high plains as well.

Mountain climbers in the Swiss Alps.

Mountain climbing is a famous sport in Switzerland, and tourists sometimes go up the peaks. If a good guide is obtained, and if his advice is followed carefully, the climbing is usually fairly safe—but more than one tourist has fallen to his doom.

Avalanches take place in the Swiss Alps from time to time. A great mass of snow or ice, or rock and soil, breaks loose from its place on a mountain side and slides downward. Here, in short, is the way a British scientist, John Tyndall, told of an avalanche he watched.

"A deep roar, and then we saw a rock from near the summit of the peak, plunging down and raising a cloud of dust at each bump against the mountain. A hundred other rocks were quickly in motion, along with a vast number of smaller stones. Dust was shaken into the air, forming a great cloud."

"The clatter of this devil's cavalry was stunning. Black masses of rock came out of the cloud here and there, and sped through the air like flying fiends. They whizzed in their flight as if on wings. At last they all came to rest at the bottom of the mountain."

That avalanche, like most others, did no harm to any human being, but there have been times when people have suffered. In one case, eight Italian workmen were just about to cross the border from Switzerland to Italy when they were buried by a mass of stones. Frontier guards ran to rescue them, but they were too late to save any of the Italians.

In a far worse avalanche, it was estimated that 20,000,000 tons of rock slid down a mountain for a distance of almost half a mile and struck a village. Twenty-two homes were buried, also 12 stores and about 50 stables. One hundred and fourteen people in the village lost their lives.

Among the persons in the tragedy was a Swiss girl who found herself buried in her home. She was not hurt, but a younger child in the house was injured. The girl heard his cries, and groped her way to him. In a little while she was at his side, and she cared for him as well as she could during the 10 hours which passed before the two were rescued.

HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, September 14, 1938
Benefic aspects rule dominantly today, according to astrology. It is a time to use one's best energies in carrying out plans.

In the early morning there may be mental confusion, but systematic procedure will be most successful under this configuration. Amusements of every sort will benefit, and there will be access of interest in sports. Theatres will profit, and whatever offers opportunity for betting will attract much money.

The seers emphasize the need of conserving health as well as financial resources. Many catastrophes are prognosticated as the autumn advances.

Preparedness for war will be of paramount concern in the coming year, astrologers prophesy. Peace movements should be pushed with unflinching zeal. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of upheavals and changes that may be unpleasant but in the end fortunate. Advancement will come to many workers.

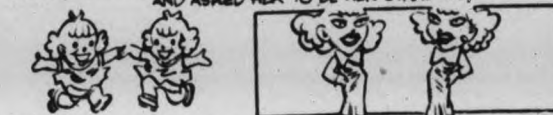

Children born on this day probably will be imaginative, artistic and talented. Subjects of this sign succeed as writers, and many are scientists.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have found the remedy for the uninvited guests who wish themselves upon you, and are such pests. It consists in putting them to work. I used to slave myself to death preparing meals for friends and relatives, who thought it would be so nice to spend a few weeks with "Dear Sadie" at no expense to themselves, and who lolled in hammocks while I perspired over the kitchen stove. But no more. As soon now as my dead-beat friends arrive I meet them with a beaming smile and tell them that I am so glad they have come to help me with the cleaning. Next morning, bright and early, I set them to cleaning out the attic or washing the windows. If it is summertime, I introduce them to a hoe and put them to work in the garden or to canning vegetables and fruit. Or, if they come late in the fall, I ring them in on putting up meat. After that is done, there is wood to be put in the shed, and I set the male guests to the wood pile, which I assure them is even better exercise than golf. Then, of course, there are always quilts to quilt, and I draft them into the kitchen and the pantry. Believe it or not, you'd be surprised that after a day or two on my treadmill they have a call back home. Last fall a woman I only casually know drove up with her brood in an automobile and told me that she felt that she just had to come to see me, and that she was going to stay two weeks. I said: "Fine. I am so glad to see you. You have come at the opportune moment, because I have been just waiting to get somebody to take care of the house, the milking, the chickens and all while I go to the hospital to have my tonsils out. Now I can go with a free mind, because you can look after everything for me." But, strangely enough, she said the next morning that she felt that she had better go on to her Aunt Lucinda, who was in poor health and needed her company. Result, I still have my tonsils, but I have never had a return visit. If you doubt the efficacy of this remedy for getting rid of uninvited guests, try it. It will work every time, and rid your house of the pests.

I feel that any words of mine added to this recipe for circumventing the arts and wiles of those who feel that it is cheaper to visit than pay hotel bills would be gilding the lily and painting the rose. And I am perfectly certain this is one of those recipes that will never fail if directions are faithfully followed.
